In 1884, exactly one hundred years ago this year, the town of Vermilionville changed its name to Lafayette. This was a time of great transformation. The completion of the Southern Pacific Transcontinental Railroad made this the eastern terminus for the two trains, the Atlantic and Pacific expresses. The arrival of this railroad laid the economic foundation for modern Lafayette. It also marked the beginning of the city as a distribution, service, transport and education center for southwest Louisiana.

Lafayette is now one of the fastest growing and dominant cities in the southwest US. It seems an appropriate place for the University of Southwestern Louisiana, which is now the second largest and fastest growing university in the state. The city and university are proud of their past and confident of a bright future. As the saying goes, "We've only just begun!!"

Gen. Alfred Mouton, oldest son of the 9th Louisiana Governor, Alexander Mouton

The culture of the Acadiana area is one of the most unique in the country — a blend of the city and country, old and new, religious and secular. Farming and fishing are still primary means of making a living, but the parish area is quickly shrinking as the cities grow faster and larger. Places like the Acadian Village — which enshrines models of the homes built and crafts practiced during the 1800's — are one of the favorite attractions for tourists and natives alike, but everywhere you go you see the modern drilling equipment of the area's major industry — oil. Churches dot the landscape. In addition to their religious nature, Cajuns have a joy of living life to the fullest seldom seen in other parts of the country.

The Cajun style of architecture varies greatly. There are traditional columned homes that may be anywhere from one-roomed cabins to 40-room plantation homes and mansions. Most have porches — usually with swings and porch furniture for spending lazy afternoons. Modern Southerners, like those of the past, have a love of the land — some used for farming, some for cattle, some just for the beauty of the large oaks and cypress trees that grow so profusely in the humid Louisiana swamplands.

Ashby Special

Special thanks to Don's Seafood and Steak House for all the delicious food.

Good friends, good food and good drink — all are essential to the Cajun way of life. Preparing food in Acadiana has become an art — practiced and perfected through generations. Most of the food is fried or cooked to go along with rice. All of it, except perhaps the rice, is highly seasoned with tobasco—made on Avery Island, right outside of New Iberia — or with a seasoning mixture developed by a local family. Seafood is more widely cooked than red meat or poultry and the most famous is crawfish. Families and neighbors get together as often as possible for a “crawfish boil” where hundreds and hundreds of the red “mud-bugs” are dropped live into a pot of highly seasoned, boiling water. When they’re completely cooked, the meat of the tails is a tender delicacy. Removing the meat is another art form that must be learned quickly, and even an amateur becomes proficient after only a few tries.

PEOPLE

John Hesses

The Cajun people are a friendly group and fiercely proud of their culture. But this pride has been developed only during the past twenty years. Before that, Cajuns quietly preserved their culture among themselves without seeking outside attention. But, in recent years, interest and pride in the Acadian tradition has grown so fast that the title "Cajun" is one of respect and fascination. The people are proud of the traditional garb of flowered prongs and bonnets, and of the traditional crafts, such as quilting, that have been preserved through the years. Love of the land and animals is predominant in their attitude, but most easily seen is their love of friends and family. A Cajun is surrounded at all times by close friendships and large families.

Beth DeCuir

Raymond Blanco

With culture and people like nowhere else, the Acadiana area seems to grab people into its arms and makes them a part of this exceptional area. This is what happened to one special person, a Cajun at heart, if not by birth. The area now turns and thanks him, Raymond Blanco, for all that he has done and dedicates this book to him.

Just as the railroad laid the economic foundation for modern Lafayette, so did Raymond Blanco help lay the foundation for a better university and increased pride in the area.

Raymond Blanco was born in Birmingham, Alabama and received most of his education at private schools, including the seminary. He began coaching at Catholic High in New Iberia in the late 1950's. In 1962, he began at USL as a graduate assistant to the football coach. Almost immediately he became a permanent member of the staff.

When he was recruited, so were many of his students from Catholic High and together with the pride that was increasing all over the Acadiana area, they brought USL to one of their first championship teams in the conference history. In the late 1960's with much student unrest at schools all over the United States, Southwestern needed an energetic, young man to become the Dean of Men. Blanco accepted the responsibility and more. He was instrumental in the changes in upper administration on campus to make the deans more accessible and useful to the students. One such change deleted the titles of "Dean of Men" and "Dean of Women" making both him and Mary McPhaul Personnel Deans who could work with any student who needed their help. In September of 1982 his title changed to vice president of Student Affairs.

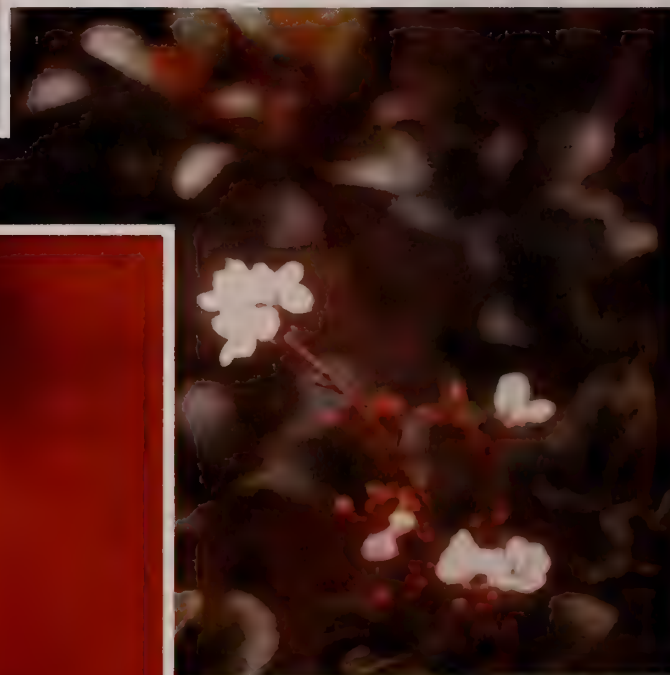

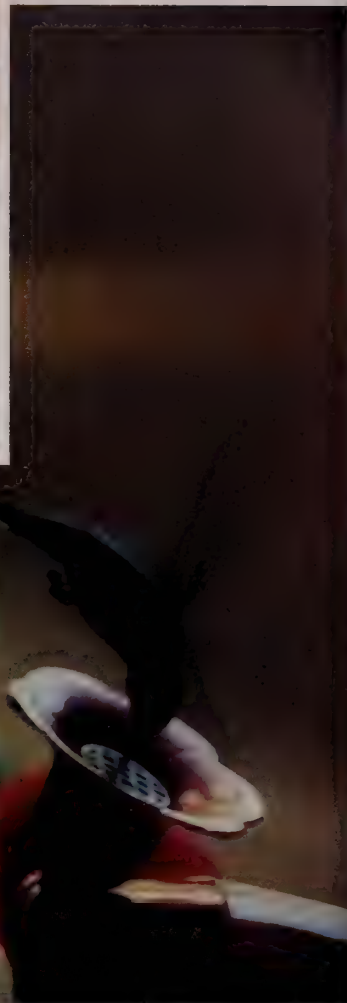

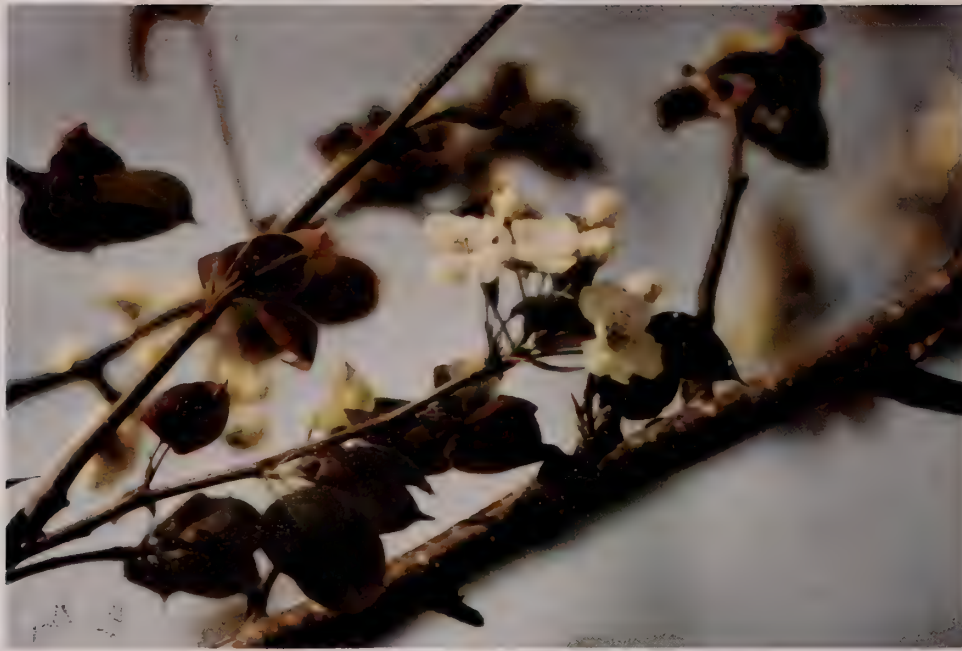

Like the city and culture he has become so much a part of, Blanco is a mixture of the old and new, city and country, religious and secular. He never forgets a friend, and old friends and former students are always popping in to say "Hi, Coach!" But he rarely turns down a chance to learn new things and to change people's attitudes for the better and more progressive. He's modern in his thinking — always coming up with new ways to help the university which keeps him on the move, yet he still retains the kind of "Welcome, come in and sit a spell" attitude the rural areas of Acadiana have developed so well.

In addition to his fun-loving, life-loving attitude at the university, he is also a devout Catholic. He and his wife, Kathleen, work to help raise money for the diocese through the Bishop's Services Appeal in Lafayette and surrounding parishes.

He has the traditional love of the land most Cajuns have—enjoying duck hunting, trout fishing and shrimping. He also loves the food made famous by the Cajuns. Blanco had developed the pride in the Cajun way of life of the natives. He was instrumental in helping Cajuns realize their heritage and express their pride in it by encouraging the name of USL's sports teams to be Rajun Cajuns. And his love of family and friends is truly worthy of the title Cajun — from his close-knit large family of his wife and six children to his huge and ever growing circle of friends.

Anyone who knows him feels the special closeness, pride in his culture and school and friendliness he embodies. It is a pleasure to work with him and USL has a great future with people like him to guide it and keep it on a future forward looking road.

USL thanks you, Dean Blanco, and hopes your memories and future are as bright as you shine in our hearts today.

Memories . . .

This is just the beginning and still it is the end. The beginning—of the book, of many special moments that the staff tries to capture and of much work. The end, for me, of my editorship, of my college life and of many friendships.

As the work on the book closes, it marks the closing of a very important time in my life, the time I've spent in college. Here I made some lifelong friends, met the man I will spend the rest of my life sharing with, and also made a few good contacts for the future. It took five looong years for all of this to happen and as graduation nears, I am glad I have finally made it, but sorry that it comes so soon.

This is the sixth yearbook I've worked on and it is one of the most precious to me. My editorship has taught me a lot, including bringing me much closer to some very special people and I would like to say thanks to them.

Thanks . . . Charlie, for two things in particular. For one thing, I appreciated that you always took the time to answer my questions and gave advice when I really needed it. Secondly, thanks for never forcing my decisions. I will always appreciate the help you gave me when I needed a smile, a bit of steadying and a shoulder to cry on.

Cheryl, don't think I would have stuck it out, without "cropping" off a few heads, if you hadn't been around. So often we've anticipated each other's needs and read each other's minds that I hope you can do it now. In practical words — thanks for always making time to talk by putting aside reading, working, sleeping, etc. You'll always be a special friend.

Matt, you've been great. I'm glad we had a chance to meet and I'll always appreciate the time you took to encourage me. But, most of all, thanks for being organized, patient and a good friend.

And to Gregory, we've done a lot of work (and probably even more fighting) but we always ended up doing what was best for the book and stayed friends. Thanks for your help, support and multitudinous ideas.

G. G., thanks Greg for the use of your camera and for understanding. You had more trust in my ability than I did. Thanks too, for not getting angry about the camera, shall we say "someone had to find the bugs in it" and I sure did.

Sherry and Frank, if I stopped to thank you for everything you'll did, this book would never get published. I appreciate your expert eye when the book was out of hands. I knew that when you'll had it, it was safe and well cared for. Thanks too for your genuine friendliness whenever we called or visited, and your encouragement in general.

Moss, much thanks. A few hours here, a trip to town there, and working on yearbook when I should have been listening to class. I know I asked for a lot and so with a deep dramatic bow "thanks." This would never have been completed if you hadn't given so much.

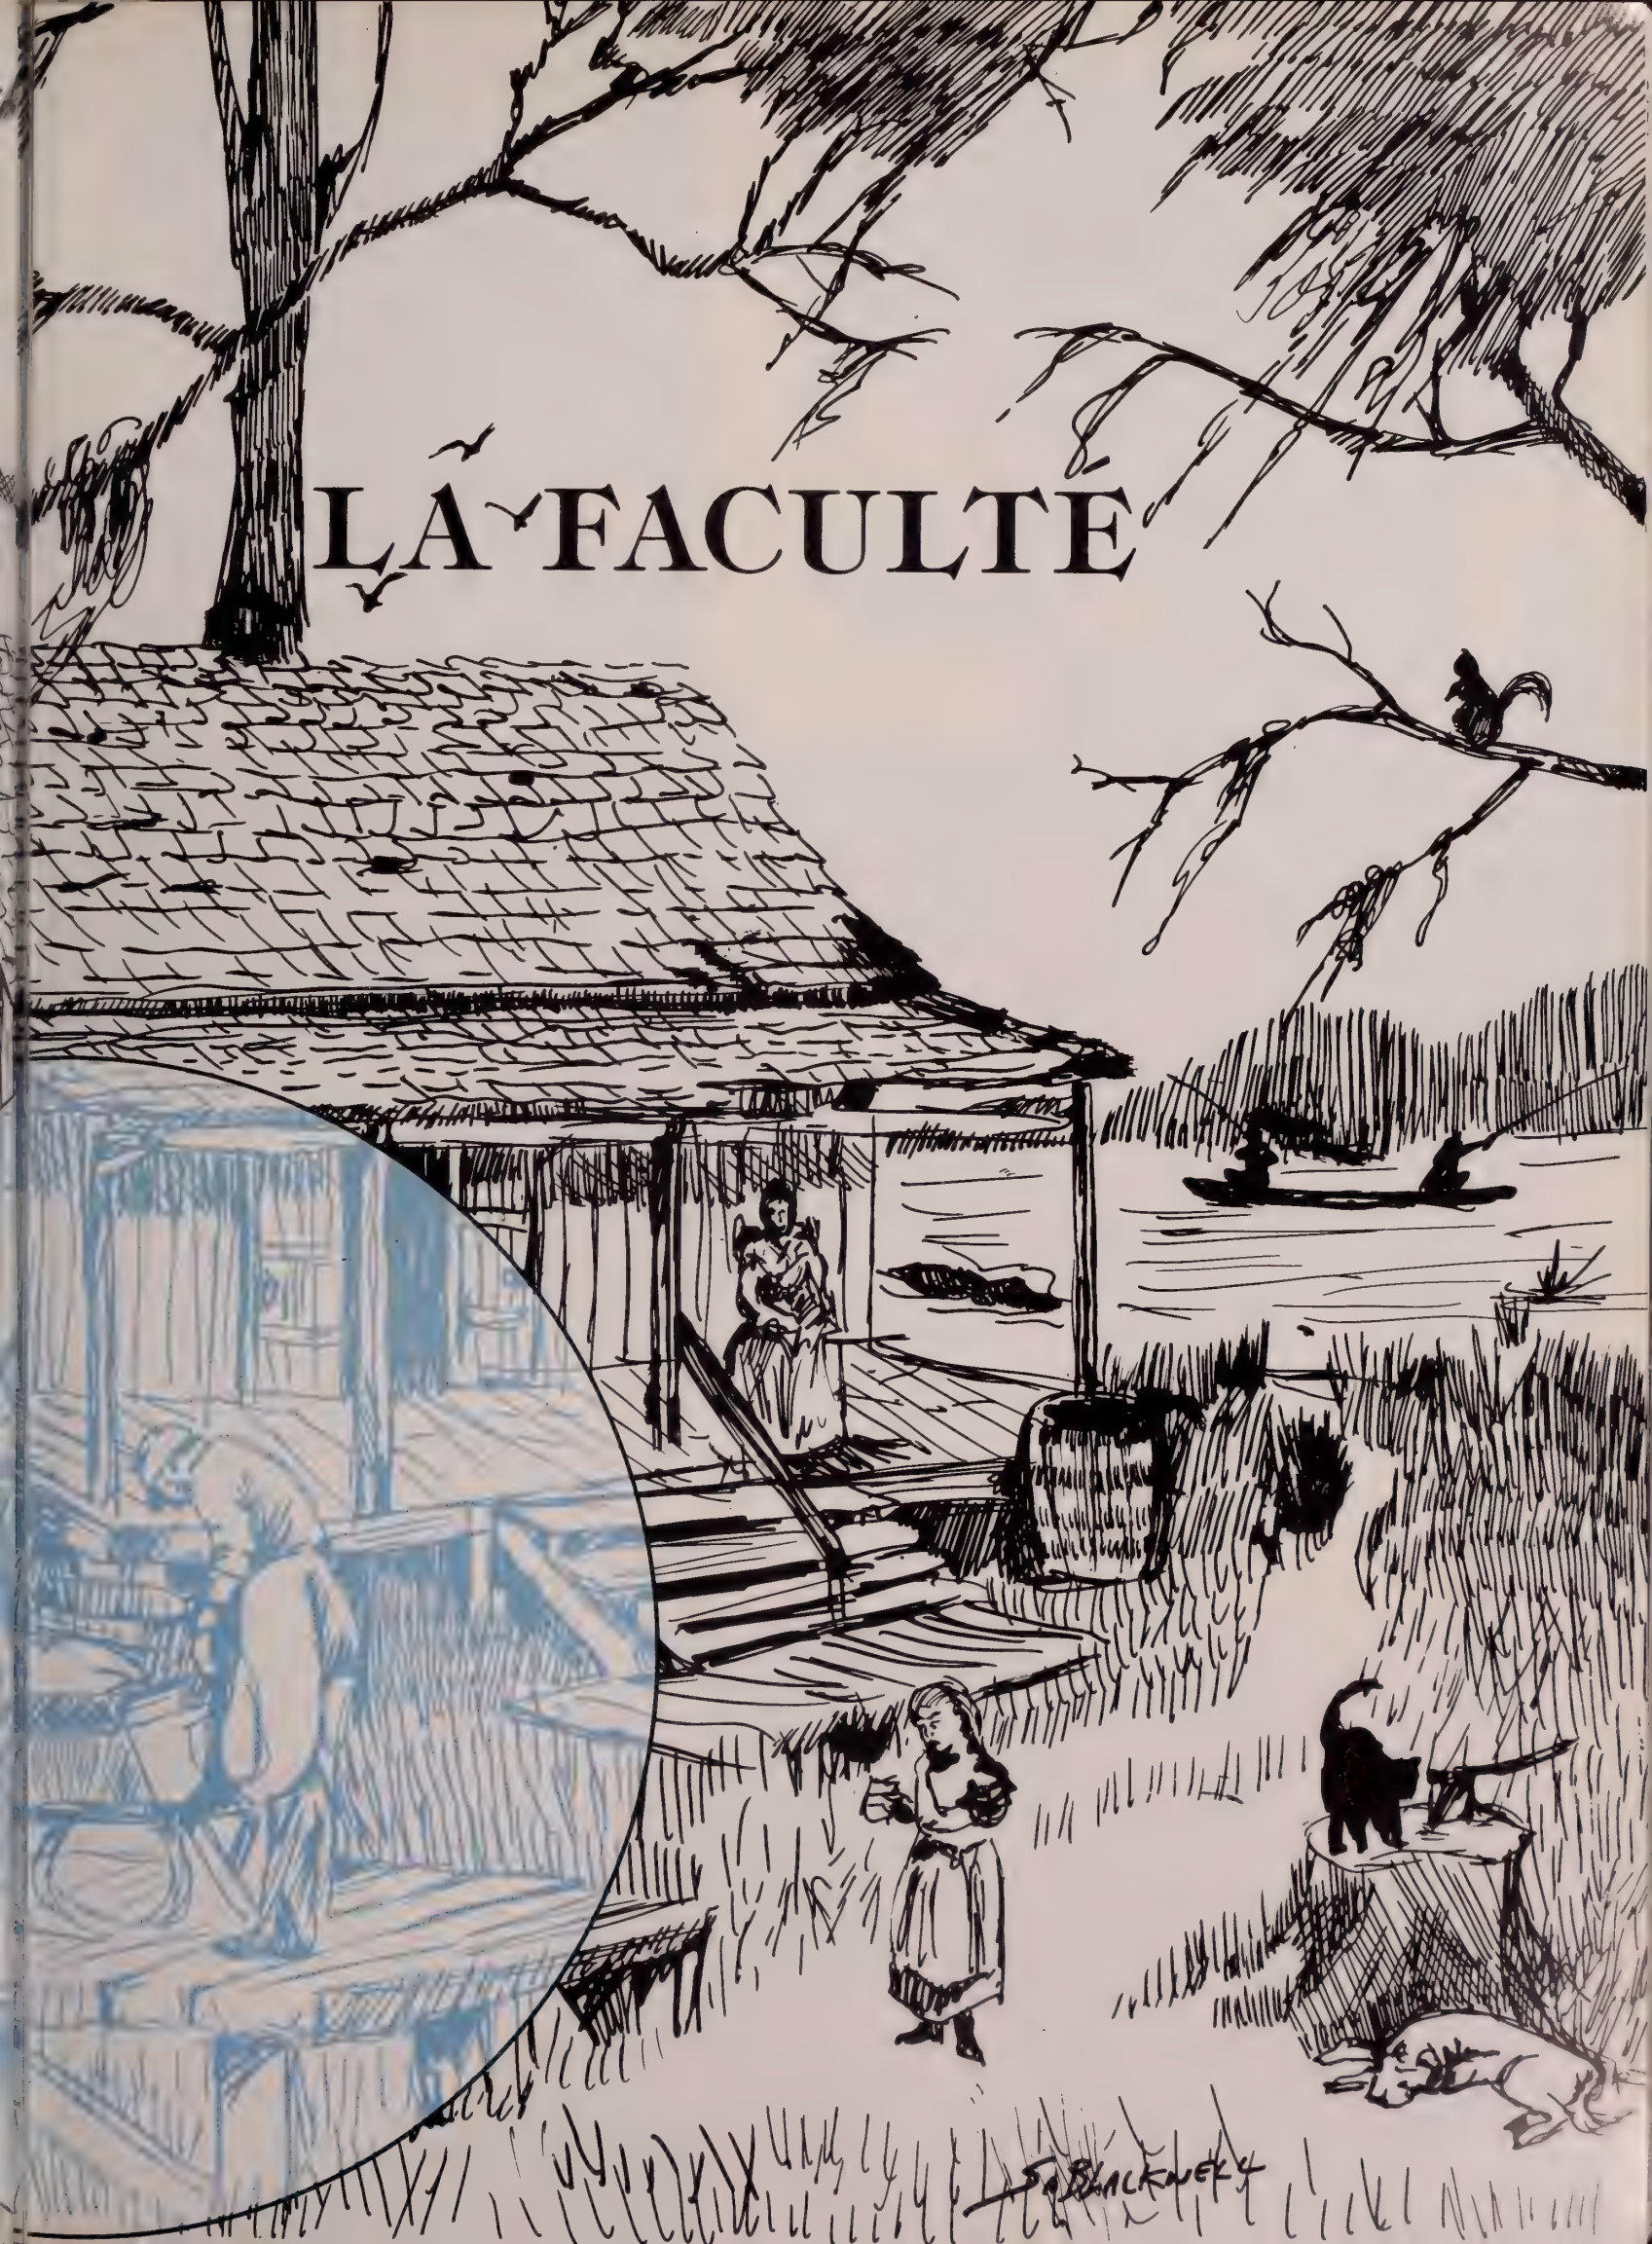

And of course—the staff deserves much more than thanks. Wayne—having pages in by deadline was a luxury I rarely got. Thanks for the work and concern. Skip and Scott—thanks for the creativity you added, and Jacky and Marty—thanks for coming through when it was needed. Sally, John, and Rob your time and concern were not only needed but appreciated, thanks.

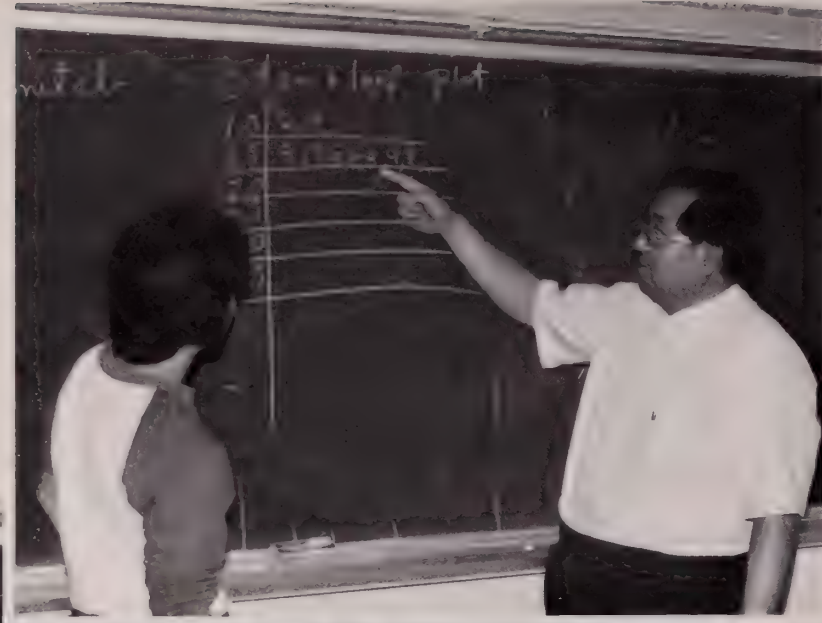

Last but not least—special thanks to my family for their concern and help, especially you Philip.

I am sure there are many that have given of their time and labor to get this creation out and although you are not mentioned you are appreciated.

Things change when one becomes a pledge

"This is what we're all about"

Being a pledge involves a great deal of trust

Fraternities and sororities of U.S.L. employ a "formal" system of rush. The rushee must attend at least six of the parties. Through these parties, he or she becomes familiar with the various organizations and it's members. It is a process of mutual selection. As the rushee is examining and evaluating the fraternity or sorority, the members are determining whether or not the rushee would be a good member for that particular group.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Terrebonne Parish
Terrebonne was established on March 22, 1822. It gets its name from the French word meaning good land. Some of the earlier settlers were Acadians. Terrebonne is the second largest of Louisiana's parishes and is one of the richest. Sugar cane is the chief crop. Oil is found in the parish. The seafood industry is important. Trapping is also extensive.

AKA's share a moment of togetherness

The Epsilon Beta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha was chartered on the U.S.L. campus in 1967. The main goal of AKA is to cultivate and encourage high scholastic and ethical standards, improve the social status of the Negro, and promote unity and friendship among college women. Alpha Kappa Alpha also strives to keep alive within each alumnae an interest in college life and progressive movements emanating there from.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority was founded on January 15, 1908 on the campus of Howard University in Washington D.C., and was incorporated in 1913 in order to promote the intellectual standards and mutual uplift of its members. It's first international chapter was founded in 1958.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Acadia Parish

Acadia Parish was originally part of St. Landry Parish. It was created as a separate parish on June 30, 1888. Acadia was settled by the descendants of the Acadians. The growing of rice is the principal industry. At Crowley, the parish seat and principal city, is located at the Rice Experimental Station which is conducted by the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture.

Alpha Omicron Pi was founded at Barnard College in New York on January 2, 1897. The official sorority color is cardinal red, and their symbol is the Jacqueminot rose. The chapter's mascot is the panda Bear.

Pledges proudly display their new shirts.

The Delta Beta chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi was chartered on the U.S.L. campus on September 22, 1956. The goals of the sorority are to encourage a spirit of sisterhood and love among its members; to stand at all times for integrity, dignity, scholarship, and college loyalty; to strive for and support the best interest of the university, and in no way to disregard, injure, or sacrifice those interests for the sake of advancement or prestige of the sorority.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . St. Bernard Parish

Created on March 31, 1807, St. Bernard was once called "Terre aux Boeufs" because it was the last refuge on the country's wild oxen. The first settlers established plantations in St. Bernard in 1720. Under the Spanish rule, Canary Islanders, called "Isleons" were among the first to arrive. It was the first parish to grow indigo and sugarcane. For 150 years before the Civil War, wealthy citizens of New Orleans, among them Cortez the Conquerer, built plantation homes here. Today the parish offers many attractions to industries that prefer the convenience of nearby New Orleans, while availing the employees with the advantage of living in an uncongested suburb.

Chi Omega is noted for its individuality. All Chi O's share common goals and ideals. Each year they try to live up to these ideals; those being friendship, sincere learning, creditable scholarship, vocational interests, social and civic service, and quality activities.

Chi Omega was founded on April 5, 1895 at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. It was on March 2, 1967 that the Mu Theta chapter was colonized. Cardinal and straw are Chi Omega's colors and the owl is their mascot.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Jefferson Parish

Jefferson Parish, named after Thomas Jefferson, was created as a parish on February 11, 1825. The northern part of the parish adjoins the southern part of New Orleans and is a suburban residential section as well as an industrial center. The southern portion is in the bayou country and is primitive in its civilization. Known as the Barataria section, it was the haunt of Jean Lafitte and other pirates.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Vermilion Parish

Established on March 25, 1844, Vermilion takes its name from Vermilion Bay and the Vermilion River. Both of these derive their names from the fact that the bluff lands along these water courses is reddish or vermilion in color. Vermilion is a large rice producing parish. It is the home of large amounts of timber, much of it cypress.

The gift of giving

At the inception of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, founded in 1913 at Howard University, the founders envisioned an organization of college women pledged to serious endeavors and community service. These youthful students demonstrated a vital concern for social welfare, academic excellence, and cultural enrichment, de-emphasizing the social aspect of sorority life.

Everyone enjoys a little time together

In 1930, Delta Sigma Theta was incorporated. The record of incorporation was filed at the Congressional Library in Washington D.C. Today there are over 650 chapters grouped according to geographic areas. Their ideals of scholarship and service have withstood the test of time, and today Delta Sigma Theta is a public service organization dedicated to a program of sharing membership skills and organizational services in the public interest.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Jefferson Davis Parish

Named after the President of the Confederacy, Jefferson Davis Parish was formed on June 12, 1912 by slicing it off from Calcasieu. It is a farming parish and was originally settled by Acadians. Rice is the most important crop. Other major crops include potatoes, cotton, and soybean. It has some 2000 farms and is one of the largest oil producing parishes in the state.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . West Feliciana Parish

This beautiful, rural parish was created on February 17, 1824 by a division of the original Feliciana Parish. Time or progress has in no way diminished the quaint qualities of the parish. It is steeped in history, still in evidence in many antebellum homes and buildings. Feliciana means "happyland". John James Audubon, the famous naturalist, lived here for a short while and appointed many of his Birds of America in the lovely woods near Oakley, while engaged there as a tutor in the 1820's. Bayou Sara was once a thriving river town. Before 1860, it was one of the largest points between Natchez, Ms., and New Orleans. The boll weevil, the demise of steamboat traffic, floods and fire combined to bring about its decline. It lost its charter in 1926. Today the parish is building a future while preserving its past which makes it a special "happyland".

Are things that bad??

Phi Mu was founded on March 4, 1857 in Macon, Georgia. It is the second oldest and largest organization for women in existence today. The Alpha Sigma chapter was chartered at U.S.L. in 1956. Its colors are pink and white and their mascot is the lion.

And whoever said that sisters don't get along?

Individualism is the keynote of today's Phi Mu. Members are not complacent — they accept the challenge to think and to participate. Creativity is the result of original thinking, which leads to involvement and development of leadership. Phi Mu offers its members scholastic, social, cultural, philanthropic, and spiritual challenges.

The natives are restless tonight.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Lafayette Parish

Coming into existence on January 17, 1823, Lafayette is the third smallest parish in the state. Cotton, sugar, and rice are the principal crops, but it is a natural catile country and cattle, sheep, and hogs are raised extensively.

There are no sad faces at his party.

Tri-Sigma's use their opportunities to develop all of their potential worth. Sigma Sigma Sigmas believe that sorority life should not provide solely the enjoyment of parties and other special privileges, but that it be a mixture of this and an opportunity to prepare for wide and wise human service.

It must have been some party!

At the heart of the Sigma experience one will find the essence of sisterhood . . . truth, freedom, faith, hope, and love. The Alpha Mu chapter was established on the U.S.L. campus in 1931. From this time on, Sigma Sigma girls have proudly displayed their purple and white jerseys.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Allen Parish

On June 12, 1912, Allen Parish was created out of the Parish of Calcasieu. Named after the Confederate governor of Louisiana during the Civil War, Henry Watkins Allen, it and Jefferson Davis parish are the newest parishes in the state. At one time it was important as a great lumber producing region, and the parish still derives a major portion of its revenue from timber. Three large lumber mills still operate there. Nearly all of the virgin pine has been cut, but the State Department of Conservation in conjunction with several large lumber companies have entered into a reforestation project which provides for the reforestation and fire protection of more than 100,000 acres.

When it comes to pictures, everyone's a ham.

"I want muscles"

Over the past several years, Zeta Phi Beta's Stork's Nest Program has proven itself to be an asset to the community by meeting a vital need through its distribution centers issuing items to needy mothers. The sisters are very pleased with their record, but they realize that there is much more to be done.

Zeta Phi Beta was organized at Howard University on January 16, 1920 as the result of encouragement given by Charles Taylor and Langston Taylor, members of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity who felt that the campus would profit by the development of such an organization as sisters to the fraternity. Thus Zeta Phi Beta and Phi Beta Sigma became the first brother-sister official Greek letter organizations.

Sponsored by U.S.L. Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council, Greek Week 1983 united all fraternities and sororities for a week of fun, games, and downright competition. Beginning on Monday, April 18, Greeks continued an annual celebration which promotes brother-sisterhood. Monday's itinerary included a Pizza Eating Contest at Grouch's, and a Greek Social which took place at the Heymann Center. On Tuesday, fraternities and sororities were able to enjoy the talents of their fellow Greeks in a talent show which was held in E.K. Long Gym. Wednesday was the beginning of another phase of Greek Week. The treacherous, infamous greek Games began at 4 p.m. at Cypress Lake. Canoeing, relay races, and an obstacle course were but a few of the competitive events put together by Free Time Activities.

"If I had only eaten my Wheaties this morning"

"Acadian Ambulance, take a good look at how its done."

"Did someone say this was LITE beer?"

Just one of life's many hurdles

"Now where do I put my other foot?"

On Thursday, April 21, the Games were moved to McNaspy Stadium where a "keg toss" and a tug-o-war, among others, were games that brought out the competitive beast in everyone (this can be seen in the pictures). The events wound down Friday evening with an All-Greek Social at the Scott Lion's Den, music being provided by Phoenix. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of awards for the events of the preceeding week. Although not everyone was able to take home a plaque or trophy, the experiences and memories shared by everyone once again proved that GREEK is not just a four year experience, but a way of life.

"I think I'd rather study!"

"I thought they said that there were no more alligators?"

Acadiana Spotlight . . . St. John the Baptist Parish

St. John the Baptist was one of the original parishes created on March 31, 1807. It was settled by John Law's German colonists who came down from Arkansas. St. John at first was part of the German coast. Sugar cane is the leading crop. One of the largest sugar refineries is located at Reserve.

Good friends, good times.

Football games can be fun!

The Zeta XI chapter is still relatively young on U.S.L. campus, but it is a leader in school and civic service. Committed to their bond, "Many deeds, scholarship and love for all mankind," the brothers of Alpha Phi Alpha find themselves dedicated to the ideals that they so firmly live by. No single black organization has taken such a firm stand in servicing others, education, human and civil rights, and in a general uplift of their fellow human beings.

Founded on the campus of Cornell University in Ithaca New York, Alpha Phi Alpha has the Proud distinction of being the oldest and largest predominately black Greek organization in existence. Since its beginnings on December 4, 1906, Alpha Phi Alpha's members have spread it's motto, "First of all, servants of all, we shall transcend all."

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Beauregard Parish

Beauregard Parish, named after Louisiana's famous Confederate general, is on the Texas border and it was created out of Calcasieu Parish on January 12, 1912. This region was practically uninhabited until recently. Just before the Civil War it was settled by descendents of the Scotch-Irish from the Carolinas. The principle crops are sweet potatoes and vegetables. Beauregard Parish is one of the largest sheep and cattle raising sections of the south.

Everyone having a good time?

When things get wild, they really get wild!

The Epsilon Psi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta was founded on the U.S.L. campus on May 10, 1969, and is fast becoming a leader on campus. This has been accomplished by the dedication of all chapter members to the fraternity's principles, those being truth, faith, power, and courage. Brothers of Delta Tau Delta believe that attaining these qualities in everyday life situations will help each individual to become the most he is capable of becoming. Delta Tau Delta promotes strong campus involvement as well as civic and community participation.

Delta Tau Delta fraternity was founded at Bethany College, West Virginia, in 1858. Delta Tau Delta sports purple, white and gold as it's official colors, the rainbow as it's symbol, and the purple iris as it's official flower.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Washington Parish

Washington Parish, organized on March 6, 1819, was named after this country's first president. Washington parish at one time had one of the finest forests of a long leaf yellow pine in the world. Much of this has been cut. But the great Southern Lumber Company has reforested more than 200,000 acres, which, in the course of time, will give a perpetual supply of pine.

Tommy Montgomery and Dedria Delhomme

The Kappa Alpha order was founded on December 21, 1865 at Washington and Lee University. The Gamma Phi chapter was chartered on the U.S.L. campus on December 2, 1960. KA's colors are crimson and gold; its mascot is the Rebel flag.

Kappa Alpha; a fine Southern tradition.

Being religious in feeling and rooted in a tradition of achievement, Kappa Alpha does not consider itself a fraternity. Instead, it is a group of young men who aspire to the qualities of fine gentlemen. It is those who possess these qualities and those who care to develop them that experience Kappa Alpha and grow in character in its membership.

Acadian Spotlight . . . Calcasieu Parish

Organized as a parish on March 24, 1840, "Calasieu" which means "crying eagle", is said to have been the name of an Attakapas Indian chief. As he went into battle, he gave a particular cry like an eagle. Calcasieu was settled by white people before the American Revolution. The original settlers were French with a few Spanish. In the 1830's many American families came in from states east of the Mississippi River. During the Civil War, the Sabine River became a hideout for block-ade-runners and strong Confederate earthworks were built along it.

A very special gathering

Members prepare to display their talents.

The Theta Nu chapter had it's beginnings on the U.S.L. campus on December 15, 1975 when it's charter was received. The main objective of Kappa Alpha Psi is the promotion of achievement in every field of the human endeavor. Spreading this philosophy has been the "crystalization of a dream" which Kappa Alpha Psi members live their life by.

Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity was founded in the year 1910 on the campus of Indiana University at Bloomington, Indiana. The organization of this fraternity came about when several young men decided to make things better for each other.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . St. Martin Parish

St. Martin Parish, established as Attakapas Parish on March 31, 1807, became St. Martin Parish on April 17, 1811. It is in the center of the Teche Country, the land of the Acadians and Evangeline. Even before the Acadians settled in this section, there was a post at St. Martinville. A number of officers of noble French and Spanish families remained there after their appointments had expired. For many years it was the center of considerable culture. At one time it was a summer resort for New Orleans society. Sugar cane is the important crop, but rice and cotton are grown also.

That's incredible

Socially, the brothers of Kappa Sigma enjoy many traditional and many spontaneous parties. In commemoration of it's local founding, Kappa Sigmas from all over the United States take road trips to Lafayette to enjoy a week long party called Green Party. Other activities include beach blanket blowout which is held during football season, a football run with KS brothers from McNeese, an end of the world party and many social exchanges with U.S.L. sororities. Climaxing the year is the annual derelict awards where a brothers more unusual behavior is recognized. Kappa Sigma's ideals are achieved through hard work, consideration and brotherhood. The results eminate in the close feeling which make every Kappa Sigma proud.

The Epsilon Chi Chapter of the Kappa Sigma fraternity here at U.S.L. has enjoyed 28 years as leaders of the Greek community since its founding on March 17, 1956. Pride, athletics, and character among other factors have contributed to Kappa Sigs success. Kappa Sigma's central fund raiser is the Extravaganza held annually on July 4th of which proceeds are donated to the St. Judes Children's Hospital.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . St. Landry Parish

St. Landry Parish, established on March 31, 1807, was named after one of the early saints of the Catholic Church, St. Landry, who founded the Hotel Dieu in Paris in the sixth century. It is a fitting name for a Louisiana parish however, since many of the residents bear the name of Landry, and there are many thousands of this name in other parts of the state. The inhabitants of St. Landry are descendants of the Acadians, but many French and English people later settled there. The soil of St. Landry is extremely fertile and sugar cane, cotton, and rice are important crops.

"I don't care what everyone thinks, I like it"

The Iota Omega Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at U.S.L. in 1962. Known as the fraternity of honest friendship, Lambda Chi develops strong campus involvement, promotes hard work, and stresses good community relations. Life as a Lambda Chi is never dull. In addition to service, parties and numerous socials keep it's brothers quite busy. Providing friendship and guidance as a means of achieving a college career is what Lambda Chi Alpha is all about.

Founded on November 2, 1909, on the campus of Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts, Lambda Chi Alpha has become, in seventy-five years, the second largest International fraternity in the world. With 221 chapters throughout the U.S. and Canada, Lambda Chi Alpha continues to grow and prosper.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Ibberville Parish

One of the original nineteen parishes, Ibberville Parish, created on March 31, 1807, was named after Ibberville, French explorer and brother of Beinville. Ibberville made his first trip up the Mississippi in 1699. A few miles south of Plaquemine, he found a large group of Bayougoulas Indians waiting to extend a welcome. The same year of Ibberville's visit Fr. Du Ru, a Jesuit missionary, established the first church and labored to convert the Bayougoulas Indians. But in 1796 there were only 376 men, women, and children in the parish. The largest colony was then at St. Gabriel. During the Civil War, Ibberville parish was overrun by the Federal armies. There are several well-known ante-bellum homes in Ibberville parish.

Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc was founded on November 17, 1911. Through the efforts of four enthusiastic individuals, this organization, based on manhood, scholarship, perseverance, and uplift, had it's beginnings and to this day continues to affect the lives of many young men.

In conjunction with it's four principles, the Ques are involved in many aspects of campus and civic life. Striving to be first is not only a goal, but a lifelong experience.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Evangeline Parish

Evangeline was created on June 15, 1910. It was appropriately named after the illfated heroine of Longfellow's poem. While the parish itself is new, the history of it's people extend over a long period of time. Once a part of the Atakapas prairie region, Evangeline became an exile for Acadians. The parish is mostly agricultural, and some of the families have dwelt on the same acres for six generations. The leading crops of the parish are corn, cotton, oats and sugarcane. In the northeast portion, lumber is produced.

The Iota chapter of Phi Beta Sigma was founded on the U.S.L. campus in 1976 when 8 area young men decided to carry on the ideals of their predecessors. Encouraging others to set high educational goals, working together in businesses and community, and total involvement are the qualities which are instilled in the members.

Howard University in Washington D.C. was the sight of the founding chapter of Phi Beta Sigma. Beginning in January of 1914, this group of young men have continued a tradition of hard working activities that will improve the world in which we all live.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Lafourche Parish

One of the largest parishes, Lafourches was among the original twelve counties organized on April 10, 1805. From the French word meaning fork, it is named after Bayou Lafourche, a fork in the Mississippi. The fertility of the soil brought settlers to this area early in the eighteenth century. Many of the early settlers were French and Spanish, and later the Acadians. Today along Bayou Lafourche on both sides for nearly 100 miles is found one of the most thickly settled rural populations in the U.S. Someone once said that a baseball can be thrown from neighbor to neighbor all the way from Thibodeaux to Leesville, a distance of 75 miles. Lafourche is the birthplace of Chief Justice Edward D. White of the Supreme Court.

Organized with three basic objectives, the cultivation of friendship, the acquirement individually of a high degree of mental culture, and the attainment personally of standards and morality, Phi Delts continue the tradition that began some 135 years ago.

The Louisiana Gamma Chapter of Phi Delta Theta was founded on the U.S.L. campus in January of 1983. Acadiana Spotlight . . . Iberia Parish Organized as a parish on October 3, 1868, Iberia Parish is in the heart of the Evangeline country, and is rich in scenic attractions and romantic history. Iberia Parish was first settled by Spanish colonists from Florida who laid out the Old Spanish Trail to make a connecting route to their post at San Antonio. The country was named Iberia after the Iberian Peninsula (Spain). Later on, the French settled this section, then the Acadians, and after that, the Americans. Three of the largest salt mines in the world are located on islands which are part of the Parish of Iberia.

The chapter participated in many school events ranging from intramural sports to the annual Lagniappe Day Extravaganza. Other events include Homecoming, a Spring Formal, and Las Vegas Nite, which for two years has been one of the largest charity events on campus. Phi Kappa Psi is more than a fraternity — it is a force on campus guided by honor, tradition, and brotherhood.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . East Baton Rouge Parish

Created on December 22, 1810, and settled by the French, this area was ceded to Great Britain under the Treaty of Paris in 1763. It was captured by Galvez in 1779. In 1807 it was still under the rule of Spain which claimed that this colony had not been included in the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. In 1807 citizens in this parish rebelled against Spain and formed what called the West Florida Republic. This was immediately taken over by Gov. Claibourne for the United States. Thus, eight flags have flown over East Baton Rouge Parish.

Bike-a-thon! A great success

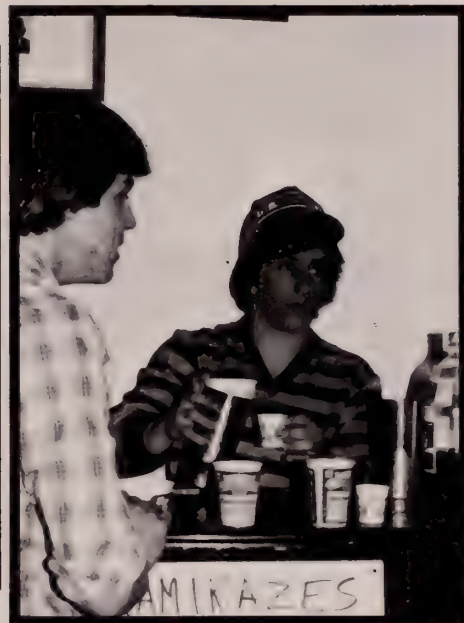

PKT brothers join together in repairing the house.

Easily recognizable by their white, gold, and purple jerseys, brothers of Phi Kappa Theta are serious about its' members participation in university events. Most of all, the fraternity is concerned with the academic achievements of each brother. PKT stands behind the old saying, "School comes first."

The Omicron chapter of Phi Kappa Theta is the oldest fraternity on the U.S.L. Campus. PKT is actually the result of the merging of two separate fraternities, Phi Kappa and Theta Kappa Phi. Founded here in 1939, members of Phi Kappa Theta continue striving to enrich themselves spiritually, physically, and mentally.

Vernon Parish, established on March 30, 1871, was named after George Washington's home, "Mount Vernon." The principal crop is cotton. Timber was very important, but much of it has been cut. Part of the parish has been converted into the Kisatchie National Forest, a conservation and restoration project.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Assumption Parish

Created from one of the original 12 counties on March 31, 1807, the county of Lafourche was divided into two parishes "the nearest of which the two rivers shall form the eighth parish under the name of the Parish of Assumption and shall include one-half of the population." The other half of Lafourche county consisting of the lower part was to be called Interior Lafourche. Some of the earliest settlers of Louisiana built their homes in what is now Assumption parish. French settlers had gone down the bayou from Donaldsonville, and some Acadians in 1765, settled on the bayou.

Acadiana Spotlight . . . Cameron Parish

Cameron Parish, the largest in the state, was originated on March 15, 1870. The parish was named after Robert A. Cameron. He was a soldier who took part in the Confederate Army's exploration of the Red River. He later commanded the district of Lafourche. Much of the area of Cameron Parish is covered with marsh lands. It is a wintering ground for migratory birds. Fur trapping is extensive, and the fish and shrimping industries are important. Crops include corn, rice, figs, and oranges.

TKE stands proud.

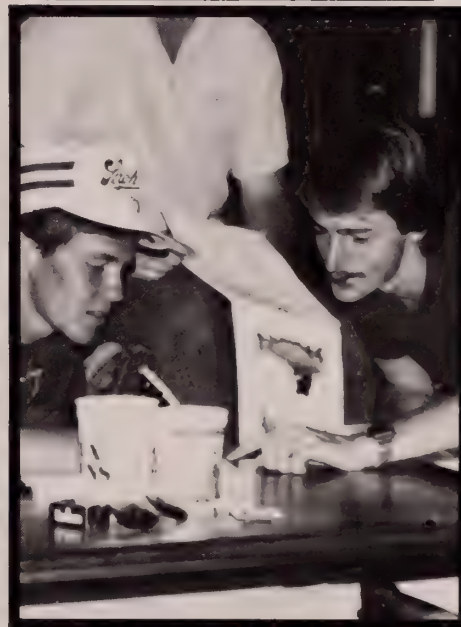

The local Fraternity, socially active, has many gatherings, including sorority socials, Alumni Pig Roast, Red Carnation Ball, and Big Brother-Little Brother functions. Through love, charity, and esteem, TKE strives not for wealth, rank, nor honor, but for personal worth and character. TKE not only emphasizes education, but also promotes campus and civic involvement. With these directions and goals, Tau Kappa Epsilon strives to be more than a social fraternity during college years, but a lifetime experience.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

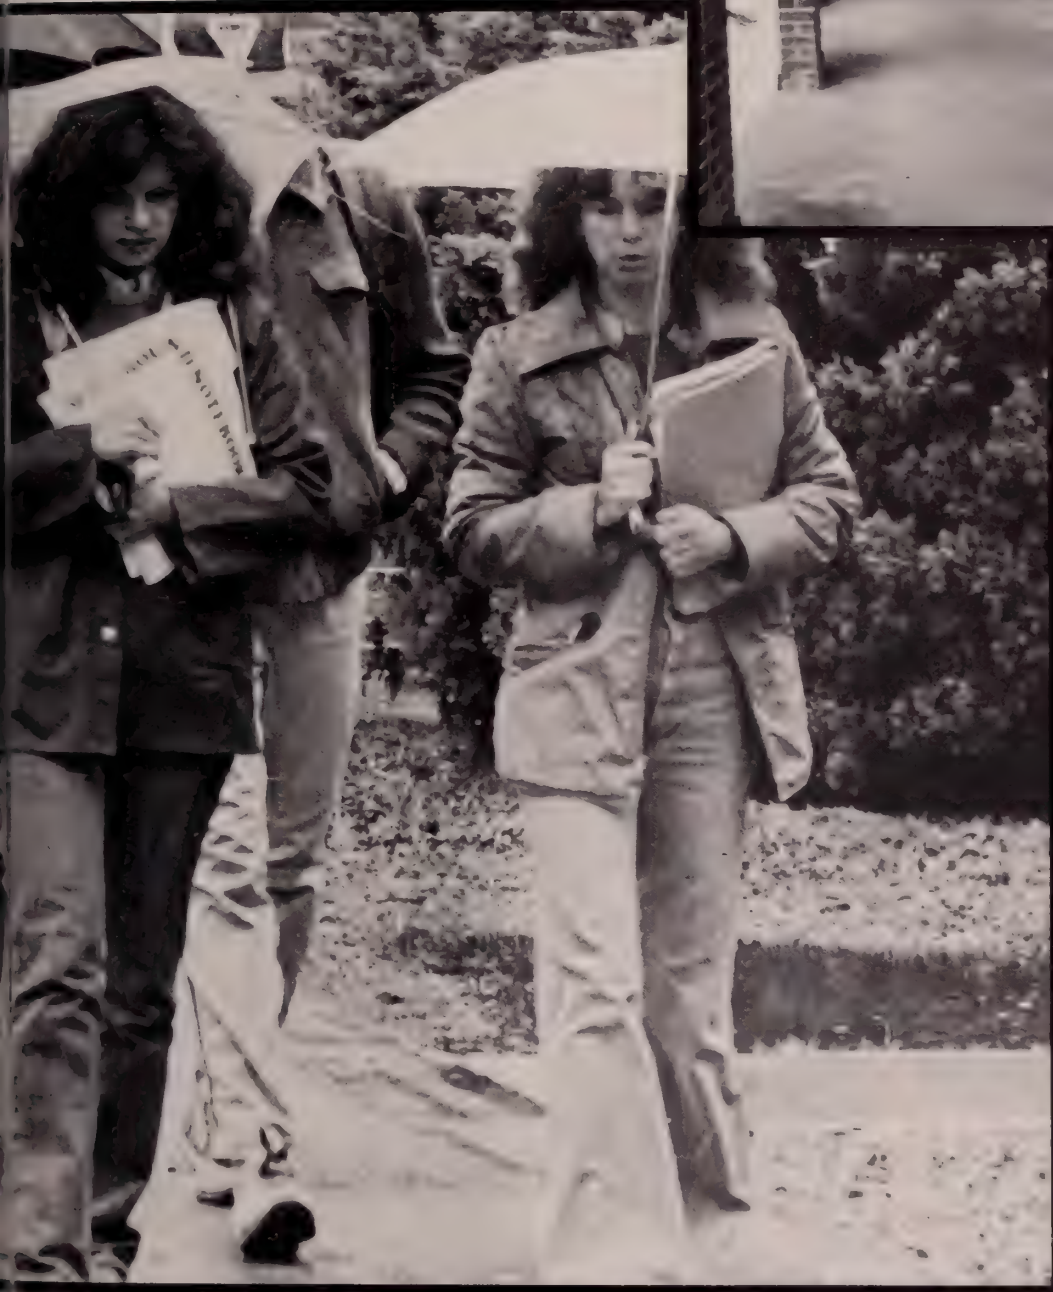

The freshmen's first experience here at USL is usually orientation. Orientation activities are of a wide variety — both learning and social in nature. These activities take place over a two-day period beginning on a Sunday morning and continuing through Monday afternoon. During this time, the freshmen are led on campus tours by upper-classmen, spoken to by deans of various colleges and learn to adapt to dorm life and college food. The first evening is normally topped off with a dance and mixer to allow the students to relax and get to know one another. The orientation session is concluded by the scheduling of classes with the help of student counselors.

KANSAS

The Kansas Concert, the first of the 83-84 school year, will probably be the last major concert sponsored by the USL Union Program Council until the Cajundome's scheduled opening in 1985. Of the 1,845 in attendance at Blackham Coliseum, only a third were USL students. UPC took a loss of over $37,000.

Kansas, which had just released its new album, "Drastic Measures," put on an explosively energetic show. The group played cuts from the new album as well as older songs such as "Carry On Wayward Son," and "Dust in the Wind." Although the audience there let its appreciation be known, it would seem that the major portion of the USL student body is in pursuit of a different sort of entertainment.

JAMES LEE BURKE

James Lee Burke, novelist and short story writer as well as associate professor of English at Wichita State University, was featured at the Deep South Writers' Conference scheduled for September 23-25 at USL.

Burke is a former instructor of English at USL. He taught on the faculty in the early 1960's.

Born and raised in Texas, Burke writes colorful fiction about the aristocracy and politics of the South, the struggles of coal miners in Appalachia, and the birth of his home state of Texas.

He received the prestigious Breadloaf Fellowship in 1970 for his second novel, To the Bright and Shining Sun, and in 1977, received a Southern Federation of State Arts Agencies Grant of $4,000.

Burke's first novel, Half of Paradise, was reviewed by the New York Times as "an exciting piece of writing and a solid debut for a writer to be taken absolutely seriously." "The Times" also praised his second book, To the Bright and Shining Sun, as a "surging, bitter novel as authentic as moonshine," and the "Buffalo Evening News" called it a "serious, excellent, and important novel."

Reviewers considered his third novel, Lay Down My Sword and Shield, to be a "fast moving, well written book" and said "his style is polished and effortless, giving his story exceptional freshness and vitality."

Burke's latest book, published in 1982, is Two for Texas, an historically accurate adventure set during Texas' drive for statehood in 1835. American legends Sam Houston and Jim Bowie are the major characters, along with others who fought at the Alamo and settled the state.

His short stories include "When It's Decoration Day," published in the Antioch Review; "Discharge Day" in the University of Montana's "Cubark"; "Hack" in "Quarterly West," and others.

Burke received his bachelor's and master's degrees in English from the University of Missouri. He also taught there as well as at USL and the University of Montana, at Miami-Dade Community College and in the United States Job Corps. His other experience includes newspaper reporting, social work and land and pipeline surveying.

Since 1978, Burke has been on the faculty at Wichita State University where he teaches American Literature and creative writing in the master of fine arts program. He lives in Wichita with his wife and four children.

Burke conducted a seminar on novels during the conference. A number of other prominent American writers were also present for the conference, which was expected to draw writers from all over the United States.

DOLORES M. YONKER

Dolores M. Yonker, art historian was guest lecturer for the Student Association of USL on Thursday, November 10th in the Fletcher Hall Media Center.

Yonker is chairman of the Department of History at California State University at Northridge, and helped found the African Studies program there. Her art has been exhibited in the United States, Mexico, Europe, and Haiti. Her suite of drawings of Haiti won the annual Creativity Award at California State for outstanding faculty achievement in 1982.

A former Fellow of the National Endowment for the Humanities Yonker is also the author of numerous articles on the art of Africa and African-American cultures. She has curated several exhibitions on the art of sub-Saharan Africa, and served on the committee which brought the exhibit, "Treasures of Ancient Nigeria," to Los Angeles in 1981.

F. LEE BAILEY

Author, lecturer, publisher, entrepreneur and sportsman, F. Lee Bailey is today one of the nation's foremost trial lawyers. Born in Waltham, Mass. on June 10, 1933, the son of a teacher and nursery school director, he showed, as a young man, the initiative and indefatigable spirit that would set him apart from his peers in later life.

After graduation from Harvard University he attended the University of Boston's law school, where he scored the highest grade point average in the school's history. At the same time, he was an avid hockey player and ran a detective agency he himself founded. After completing his education he joined the U.S. Marine Corps, where he served as a pilot with the rank of second lieutenant.

Admitted to the Bar of Massachusetts in 1960, he became involved in a highly publicized murder trial. When the original defense lawyer suffered a heart attack, Bailey was called in to replace him. He won his client an acquittal and launched himself on a brilliant career. To date he has represented over 100 indicted criminals, only a handful of whom were ever convicted of their alleged crimes.

The case that made him nationally famous was that of Albert De Salvo, the "Boston Strangler," the self-confessed killer of 13 women. De Salvo was an inmate of the Bridgewater Hospital for the criminally insane when he confessed and Bailey, certain that De Salvo was insane when he committed the killings, fought to have him acquitted. Bailey lost, claiming that "the State of Massachusetts just burned another witch," and vowed to fight what he considered to be an outdated insanity law in an appeal.

In 1971 Bailey defended Capt. Ernest L. Medina, who was being court martialed for his involvement in the May Lai massacre in Vietnam. In little more than an hour the five-member military jury reached a decision of not guilty, resulting in what Bailey claimed was Medina's "thumping acquittal."

His most recent case to make both national and international headlines was the 39-day trial of newspaper fortune heiress Patty Hearst, who had been kidnapped by members of the Symbionese Liberation Army. Indicted for participating in the armed robbery of a branch of the Hibernia Bank in San Francisco, Hearst's trial became known as "the most sensational trial of the television era." The actual verdict, guilty as charged, came as a surprise to many, especially Bailey, who claimed that the "rich man syndrome" hurt his case.

Believing that a measure of a society's integrity, sophistication and culture are based on how we treat our worst citizens, Bailey continues to cross-examine our judicial system in books, on television and in public appearances. Successful, controversial and to some notorious, F. Lee Bailey is nonetheless one of the nation's acknowledged experts in the field of law.

The topic of Mr. Bailey's lecture is also the subject of his best selling book "The Defense Never Rests." Besides lecturing on aspects of jurisprudence, Bailey touched on the subject of "Knowing Our Rights." This is in conjunction with his newer book, "How to Beat the Cops in California and Other Strange Places," which evolved after he was mistreated by some California police.

CHRIS CARLSON

Chris Carlson, a former member of Sun Myung Moon's Unification Church, was sponsored by the USL Union Program Council and Speakers Committee to speak on "Cults," Monday, March 21, 1983.

A graduate of Illinois State University, Carlson met up with the Moonies organization while sightseeing in the San Francisco Bay Area. He soon became part of the Church's cycle of recruiting and fundraising and in 18 months had brought in $28,000 and four new members.

Carlson was also required to sever all significant ties to the past, friends, and family. His parents, noticing this drastic and destructive change in their son's personality, obtained a conservatorship, a temporary guardianship granted in court.

It has now been about four years since Carlson was deprogrammed. Since that time he has assisted over 50 other people leaving various cults, and has been lecturing on the issue for the past three years. Carlson has also made a 50-minute film docudrama about his experiences with the Unification Church. He now uses the film, "Moonchild," co-produced by Makepeace Productions and Stanford University to compliment his lectures.

COMMUTING

Local News for 1983

The state of Louisiana kicked off the new year with very little reason to celebrate. Nearly half of the state was either suffering or cleaning up from the record floods that swept the Mississippi Valley. Some parts of north, central, and southeastern Louisiana received as much as 24 inches of rain within a week. Lafayette received little damage from the torrential rains, but most other parts of the state received millions of dollars in damages. President Reagan visited the area to survey the damage and declared a state of emergency.

By the end of the month of January, water was again proving to be another threat to Louisiana. This time

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA

Lafayette was much more threatened. Within days, as many as fifteen cities and towns across southwestern Louisiana were threatened with cyanide-poisoned water systems. Most of the towns threatened immediately cut off water supplies to residents. Lafayette Mayor Dud Lastrapes refused to bend to the threats, Lafayette residents never lost water. Only the city of Hammond turned up any real cyanide. The trace that was found was barely enough to be detected. Most of the threats received proved to be hoaxes.

Local businessman Ken Gilbeaux presented a $1000.00 check to the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce to help kick off the Vermilion River fund. Lafayette officials started the fund to help find ways to develop the Vermilion River for tourists.

Representative Louis Dischler and a prominent Eunice businessman were killed in an auto accident on February 23, 1983. Dischler and Alvin Smith were killed instantly when the car they were riding in was struck broadside by another vehicle while attempting to cross Highway 90 outside of Eunice. Dischler and Smith had been at a Eunice country club playing golf before the accident took place. Both were pronounced dead on arrival at a Eunice hospital.

Lafayette's new 911 emergency system opened on March 1, 1983. By 8 a.m. on the first day of operation the system proved to be highly successful, the new system had processed five emergency calls.

Jimmy L. Glass, 20, was given a death sentence on April 10 by a seven woman, four man jury. Glass was sentenced to the death penalty for the Christmas day 1982 slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Brown of Webster Parish. Glass and a companion, Jimmy Wingo had escaped from the Webster Parish jail where they were being held on drug charges. The two were looking for a car to steal. When they arrived at the Brown home the occupants were away. The two hid in the house, waited for the owners to come home, and then gagged and bound the Browns and shot them both in the head. Wingo is to be sentenced later in the year.

The 1983 Area IV Louisiana Special Olympics were held in Lafayette at the USL Track Field, April 22. Hundreds of youths from Lafayette and the surrounding areas competed in the games to win a place in the state competition held in May in Baton Rouge.

Representative John N. John III of Crowley died May 11th in a Houston hospital. Representative John had been hospitalized due to serious head injuries following a December 3, 1982 car accident in Crowley. A companion, Roderick Keller was also killed in the accident. John and Keller were riding behind a SLEMCO truck when the truck suddenly braked. John's car slammed into some poles being carried on the rear of the SLEMCO truck. Keller was killed instantly but John was taken to the Crowley American Legion Hospital. He was later transferred to Lafayette General and then on to the Houston hospital where he passed away due to excessive brain damage.

An oil field specialist team, Boots & Coots were called in June 13, 1983 to stop a leaking oil rig in the Atchafalaya Basin. By the time the crew arrived in the Atchafalaya Basin, an estimated 400 barrels of oil had leaked out onto the ground. A blown-out casing head was said to be the cause of the leak. The rig was unoccupied when the casing head blew.

Former mental patient Michael O. Perry was arrested in connection with the murders of his mother and father, Chester and Grace Perry, his nephews 2-year old Anthony Bonin and Randy Perry and his cousin Bryan LeBlanc. All of the five victims were shot in the face at close range with a variety of fire-arms. The people of Lake Arthur were all shocked by the vicious killings. Perry remained unaccounted for from July 19 to August 1, 1983. Perry was captured in Washington D.C. which was a big shock to the authorities of Davis Parish. It was believed that Perry was hidden somewhere in the vicinity of Lake Arthur or Jennings. Perry was also believed to be sighted in Lafayette in late July. Pop singer Olivia Newton-John breathed a sigh of relief when Perry was captured. Perry was obsessed with the idea of killing Newton-John after seeing the film Xanadu. He believed she was a muse and wanted to "free her spirit." Perry will be tried for the murders later in the year.

Nolan Edwards, brother of governor-elect Edwin Edwards, was murdered in his law office on August 12. Edwards was a practicing attorney in the town of Crowley. Edwards was murdered in his office by an agitated client. The client, Rodney Wingate, 29 of Church Point, blamed Edwards for losses in a suit Edwards had handled. Wingate walked into the law office, opened fire on Edwards and then proceeded to turn the gun on himself. Edwards was barely breathing when his secretary arrived on the scene. She immediately called an ambulance but Edwards was dead before the ambulance arrived. Wingate was killed instantly.

Lafayette lost half of its much needed Continental Airlines September 25, 1983 when the airline filed for bankruptcy and reorganization. Lafayette residents often complained before of much needed flights. Almost all of the airline's domestic flights were suspended following the bankruptcy file.

Edwin Edwards won a no-surprise landslide victory over incumbent David Treen in the 1983 governor's race. All through the spring and summer Edwards led the polls by at least 8-10 points. The election had the highest campaign costs in the history of the elections. Both candidates resorted to very heavy mudslinging which attracted the nation's attention in the last few months of the race. Eventually Edwards' cajun spirit pulled through and he won the election with a 62% finale. The campaign sparked the usual shady Edwards rumours but this did not affect the outcome in the long run. Edwards is to be sworn in in March.

Temperatures in southwest Louisiana dropped to a freezing 8 degrees over the Holidays. The cold weather made Christmas '83 the coldest in Louisiana history. It also made December '83 the coldest December on record. Residents of Lafayette wrapped water pipes and tried to protect livestock and vegetation as the temperatures stayed below zero for almost a solid week. The actual shock of the cold didn't hit the residents until the mercury rose above 32 degrees when the water pipes and plumbing fixtures began to burst. Many businesses had to shut down to repair the damages from the hard freeze.

Cons

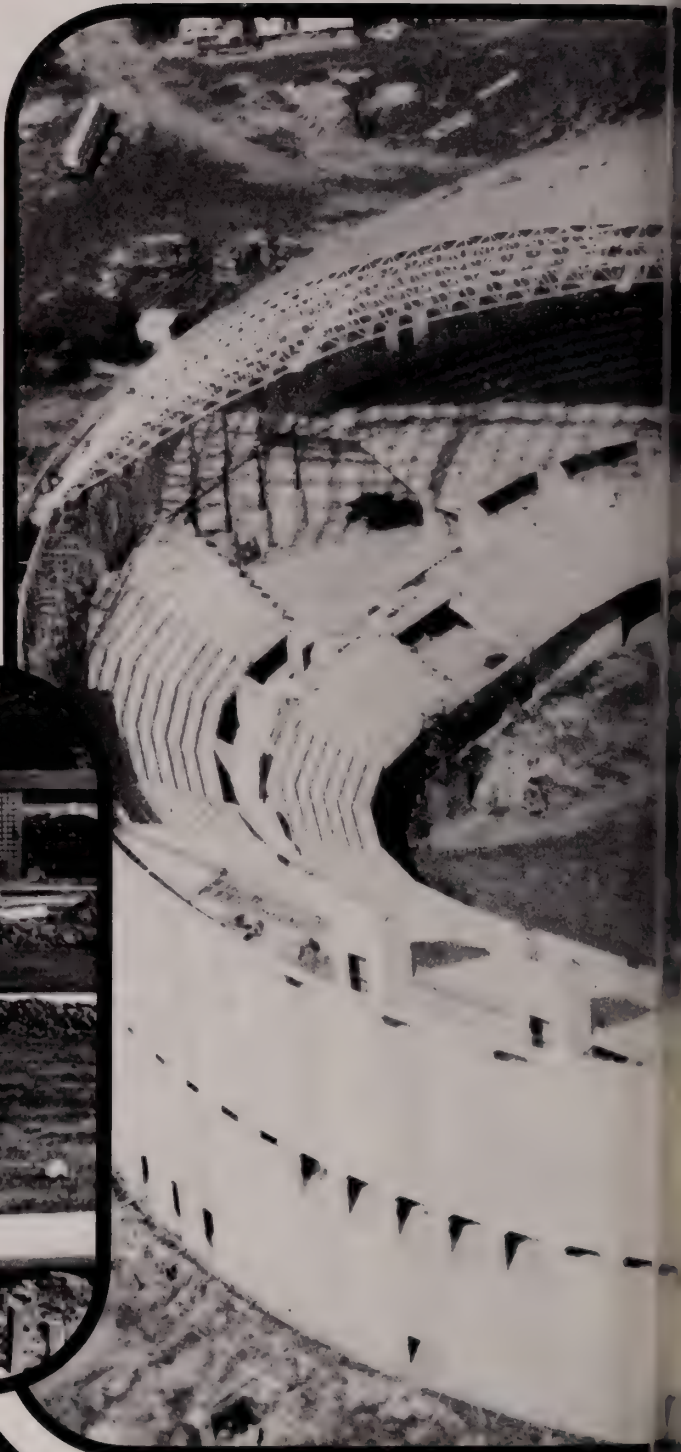

Three notable constructions have been under way during 1983. They include the Credit Union, the quadrangle, and the Cajundome.

The Credit Union Building which was completed over the summer is situated behind Angelle Hall. Along with the parking space it lacked while in O.K. Allen Hall the new Credit Union features a drive-through window for the convenience of its members.

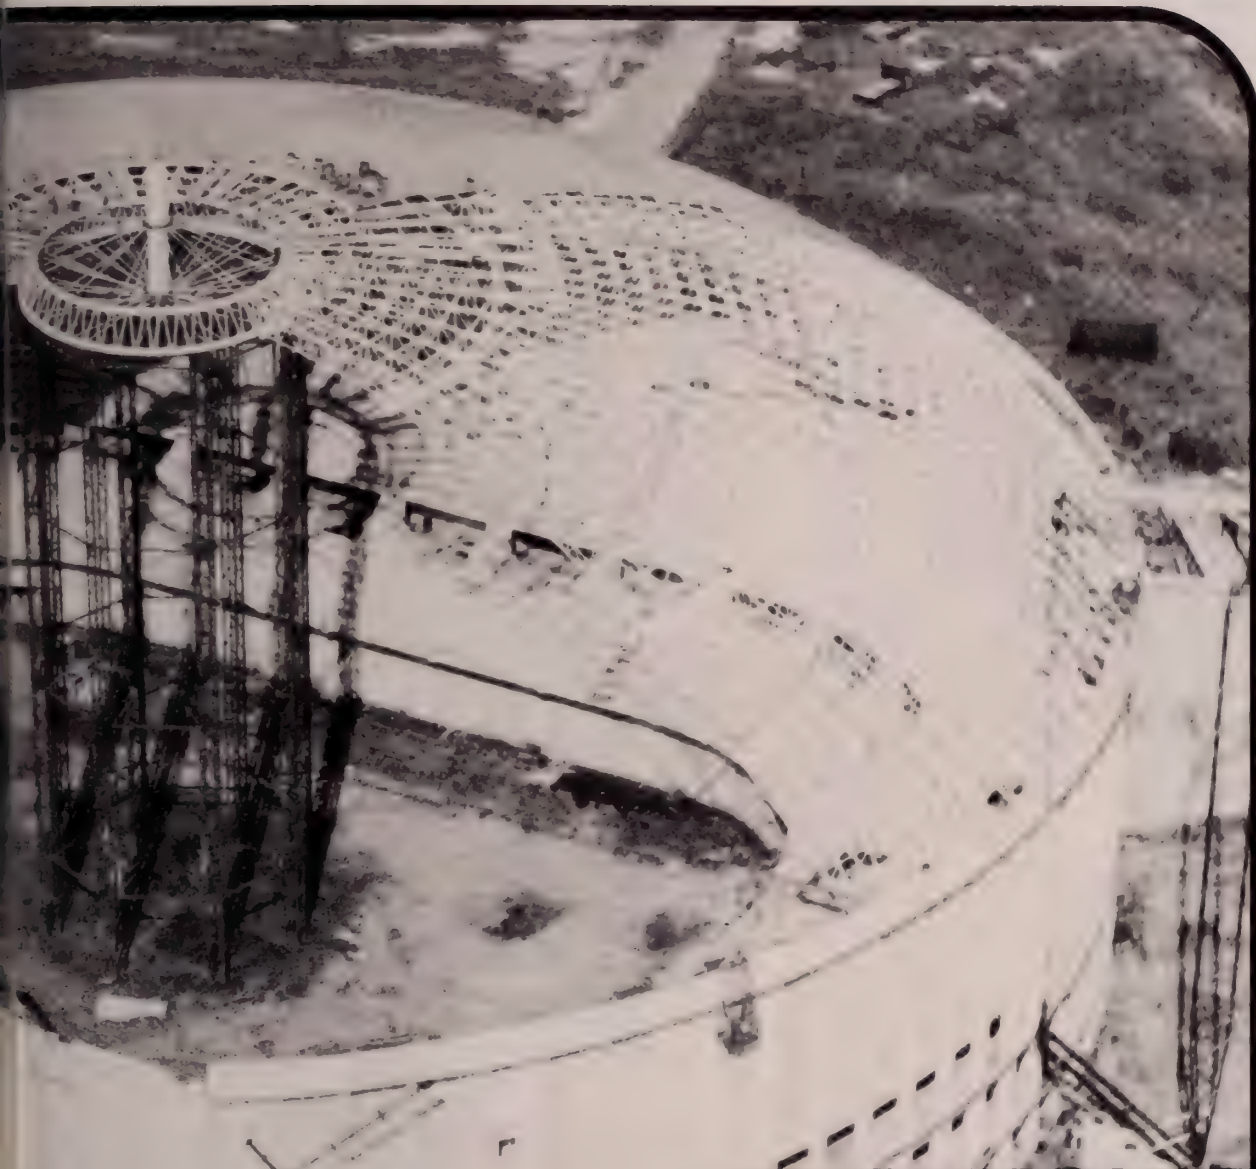

The beautification of the quadrangle began in the middle of February and is scheduled to be completed in the fall. It should include the addition of sidewalks, trees, and shrubs, as well as, the replanting of grass over the area. Better drainage of the quadrangle area is also one of the goals of the operation.

Definitely the biggest and most notable of the three is the Cajundome, designed by Neil Nehrbass and contracted by Blount Construction. Except for a one-day strike by construction workers and occasional heavy rains, the Cajundome is on schedule and due to open in the summer of '85. The 54 million dollar assembly center will have a 14,000 seating capacity and will house sports events, meetings, concerts, theatrical events, and exhibitions.

Under consideration for future construction is a 9.5 million dollar physical education building. If built it would be located near Cajun Fields and would house all PE courses, leaving E.K. Long and McLaurin Gyms open for intramural sports events.

World News in 1983

Margaret Thatcher made a 23-hour journey to the Falklands in January on a "personal pilgrimage." She visited the British troops there and placed wreaths on the graves of fallen soldiers, however, her political opponents accused her of crude-publicity seeking in a period when she could possibly call for an early general election. Outrage was the term to use for the reactions of several South American countries. Argentine President Reynaldo Bignone remarked that her presence in the islands was another "act of provocation and arrogance." Although Argentina wanted Britain to agree to negotiation over the question of sovereignty, on Thatcher's return to England she stated "One thing the islanders have made perfectly clear is that these islands are British."

Pope John Paul II returned to Poland in June, and as millions of people swarmed to see and hear him, he issued a challenge to the military regime of General Wojciech Jaruzelski. The pontiff called for "social reform" in his homeland and an end to martial law. During his visit he met with Lech Walesa, leader of Solidarity, the outlawed trade union. Almost one million Poles surrounded a soccer stadium on the edge of Warsaw to witness the first outdoor mass of the papal visit.

In the faint light of dawn on September 1, a Korean Air Lines 747 was destroyed by a Soviet air-to-air missile. Twelve minutes later the big jet plunged into the Sea of Japan, killing all aboard. Six days later, 100,000 people assembled to mourn the 269 dead passengers and a crew in a Seoul stadium. U.S., Japanese, and Russian navies searched nine weeks for the flight recorder that could have explained why the airliner might have crossed over into Soviet air space. The cool waters released only shoes, clothing, toys and other personal effects of the deceased. This act of violence against helpless people ignited a global furor. The international pilots association called for a boycott of flights into the U.S.S.R., and several nations temporarily refused to allow Soviet aircraft to land. The Russians claimed that the plane had been on a spy mission. While they have never withdrawn this charge, the consensus among Western governments is that the decision to fire on the airliner was made by a local military commander slavishly following standing orders to intercept all intruders. The plane crashed some 70 miles west of the northern tip of Hokkaido. Its debris began washing up along 650 miles of the island's coastline two weeks later. Residents of a dozen villages found parts of bodies and fragments of the jet. The Russians picked up 18 articles of clothing and sent them to Japan, after having them dry-cleaned.

Beningo S. Aquino, Jr., 53, leader and patron saint of the democratic opposition in the Philippines, was shot in the back of the head as he stepped off a plane in Manila after three years of exile in the U.S. It is still not known who killed him or why. The government of President Ferdinand Marcos blamed a lone gunman—who was both anonymous and dead. Aquino's followers believed, without question, that someone in the Marcos regime ordered the assassination. The murder was a disaster for the democratic opposition, for the United States, and even for Marcos. The only apparent beneficiaries were the communist-led guerillas who want to replace Marcos' regime with one of their own. The assassination produced immense antigovernment demonstrations in Manila and the countryside. The protesters were moved by Aquino's martyrdom, but in the long run his death could only hurry the cause for which he had sacrificed himself. The opposition to Marcos was left leaderless, with no one remotely influential or charismatic enough to take Aquino's place.

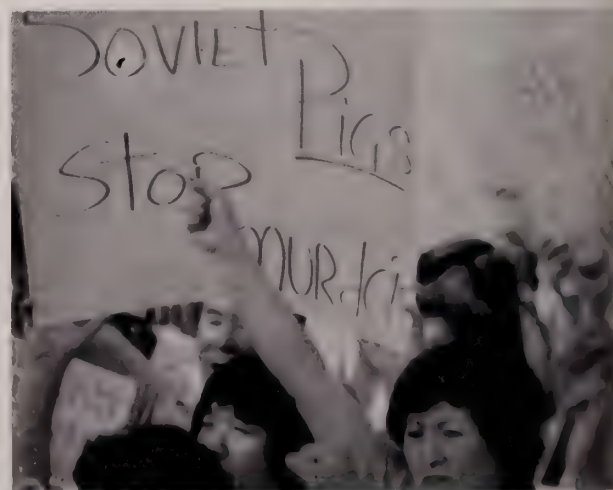

In August, weightlifter Jeff Michels won three gold medals for the United States in the Pan American Games in Caracas, but one week later, in the aftermath of the biggest drug crackdown in the history of international sports, he was asked to return all of them. The 21-year-old athlete from Chicago was one of 15 competitors from 10 countries who were disqualified from the pre-Olympic games because of high levels of anabolic steroids and other stimulants found in their bloodstreams. Said William Simon, president of the United States Olympic Committee, "... it's no surprise to those in the Olympic movement. This was a time bomb waiting to explode." Eleven American track-and-field athletes withdrew from the games after the first disqualifications were announced. The athletes complained that they were caught off guard, when the Pan American Sports Organization replaced its old less sensitive testing devices with machines that can detect one billionth of a gram of an illegal drug. All in all, a total of 23 medals—11 of them gold—were forfeited, and authorities promised strict tests at the Los Angeles games as well.

At a routine Israeli cabinet meeting in August a much-fatigued Menachem Begin said he had a "personal statement" to make. Cabinet members were shocked when Begin revealed his intention of resignation. When Begin was elected prime minister in 1977 he said he would retire at age seventy, and although he has been a man of his word, apparently no one believed he would really do it. However, when he celebrated his seventieth birthday last July, he had been emotionally drained for months. It was during November of 1982 that he lost Aliza, his wife of forty years, and his closest confidante and his greatest source of encouragement. He also seemed increasingly depressed by the continuing Israeli casualties in the Lebanon situation. According to an Israeli radio broadcast Begin said, "I don't feel that I am functioning as a man who carries my responsibilities should be functioning." He agreed to withhold his resignation for a while but when he does resign, Israel will be thrown into political turmoil as a new government will have to take hold. Deputy Prime Minister David Levy, a potential successor, declared, "No one is thinking of a replacement for Begin. We are only going to try to convince him not to resign."

Pope John Paul II visited eight nations in Central America and the Caribbean in March in an attempt to heal a political rift within the Catholic Church, spawned by the region's bloody conflicts. He said that he had come to share the suffering of those who live in the area, most of whom are Roman Catholics. He warned the citizens of Costa Rica that solutions to the area's dilemmas must be found without resorting to violence and without outside interference, an obvious criticism of the U.S. and the Soviet Union's attempts to direct the outcomes of the conflicts. In Nicaragua, the pope criticized as "absurd and dangerous" the people's churches formed by the leftist Sandinist government. The pontiff was heckled by supporters of the government, whose leaders include five priests—in defiance of his demands that clergy not hold political office. He asserted that priests holding government positions were in effect, challenging the unity of the church and deplored efforts by the Sandinists to control the curriculum of church-run schools. The pope called for a conference in El Salvador between the rebels and the government, and he prayed at the tomb of Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero. Romero had been assassinated in 1980 by right-wing terrorists while celebrating mass. The pope spent the remainder of the tour speaking to the people of Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Panama and Belize.

In April, a mammoth car bomb, seemingly the favorite weapon of Beirut terrorists, destroyed the U.S. Embassy in the Lebanese capital. The blast, in its wake, left 130 people injured and at least 47 dead in the refuse. Ronald Reagan vowed not to be swayed by the incident. "These gallant Americans understood the dangers they faced," he noted. "We would indeed fail them if we let that act deter us from carrying on our mission." Most officials believed that the attack was perpetrated by members of a pro-Iranian terrorist organization that calls itself Al Jihad al Islami (Islamic Holy War). The bomb exploded with unbelievable force just outside the crescent-shaped building, bringing down eight floors of the central section. Flying metal cut a tree in half in front of the embassy, and the bomb, thought to have as much as 500 pounds of plastic explosives, shattered windows a mile away. Ambassador Robert Dillon recalled, "All of a sudden there was an explosion, and my office collapsed, I couldn't move . . . Appropriately enough, they used the staff of the American flag to pry the rubble off me."

The British Conservative Party, led by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, won a second term in parliamentary elections in June. The party pledged to build on the nation's nuclear deterrent forces. In the House of Commons the Conservatives won 397 seats compared to the 209 for the Labor Party led by Michael Foot. Thatcher's leadership during the short successful war with Argentina over the Falkland Islands in 1982, was commended by many British voters. Queen Elizabeth II read a speech to Parliament on June 22, written by Thatcher, in which support for the U.S. and its initiatives on arms control and planned deployment of U.S. missiles in Europe were reasserted. Chancellor Helmut Kohl also retained his office in the election of a new Bundestag, the lower and most powerful chamber in the German Federal Republic. Kohl's coalition of centrist and right-winged parties won about 55 percent of the vote and 278 out of 498 seats in the Bundestag. Kohl favored the deployment of new medium-range missiles planned by NATO if disarmament talks in Geneva failed to reach a satisfactory conclusion. Many U.S. officials, including the Reagan administration were delighted at the outcome of the election.

At twenty minutes after six on the morning of October 23, a red Mercedes truck, as it neared the U.S. Marine Battalion Landing Team headquarters at Beirut International Airport, picked up speed, clattered through a roll of barbed wire, dashed between sentry bunkers and burst through a wrought iron gate into the Marine compound. The driver then set off a cargo of more than two tons of TNT. The entire four stories of the structure fell to the ground crushing most of the three hundred occupants. Debris was scattered in all directions. With the aid of construction equipment and several hundred Lebanese workers, the Marines uncovered the corpses of 218 marines, 18 sailors, and 3 soldiers. Less than two minutes after the attack on the Marines, another truck bomb exploded at the French paratroop barracks two miles to the north. It took the lives of fifty-eight Frenchmen.

Klaus Barbie, known as the Butcher of Lyons during World War II, was returned to France and put into the same prison over which he once had control when he was a chief of the German Gestapo. Barbie, who had been convicted, in absentia, of various brutal crimes including murder and torture of French prisoners, had been expelled from Bolivia where he had lived since 1951. A naturalized citizen long protected by military governments, Barbie was put in jeopardy when Bolivia returned to civilian rule. He was arrested in January for having used profits from cocaine trafficking to pay Nazi sympathizers to silence opponents of the military regimes. Eleven days later the French had him. Later in the year, the U.S. Justice Department admitted that it had employed Barbie as a spy after the war, and after learning of his war crimes in 1949, sought to conceal its relationship with him. The U.S. Army's Counter Intelligence Corps had helped Barbie to go to South America. A note of apology was sent to France.

Two days after the movie, "The Day After," West Germany's Parliament voted to accept deployment of new U.S. missiles, and soon the first Pershing II's began to arrive. In reply, the Soviet Union walked out of the Geneva arms talks and said it would field new missiles of its own. In London, 200,000 antiwar demonstrators poured into Hyde Park. Hundreds of thousands more marched in Italy, while in Austria, 100,000 protesters walked the streets. However, it was in West Germany that the campaign against the nuclear missiles reached its peak. Over one million Germans turned out. A 65-mile human chain, composed of about 200,000 West German antinuke protestors, stretched from NATO military headquarters in Stuttgart to a Pershing missile base at Neu-Ulm, 70 miles away. Others swarmed to huge rallies in Bonn, West Berlin, Hamburg, and other cities.

On November 4, troopers from the Army's 82nd Airborne Division returned to Fort Bragg, North Carolina, fatigued from their assault on Grenada and 10-day securing of the island. Nineteen Americans had been killed and 144 wounded but the controversial war had been won. Grenada, a pinpoint island in the Caribbean, was the target of a military strike against a shadowy group of ultraleftist rebels. The rescue of 600 American medical students on the island and the discovery of a large cache of Cuban and Soviet weapons lent credence to the president's assertion that the strike was "just in time." Dubbed Operation Urgent Fury, the assault on the island began at dawn when the Navy Seals landed to prepare for the invasion. At the northern tip of the island, helicopters carried Marines to Pearls Airport which, lightly defended, fell quickly afterwards. Then on the opposite side of the island, the Army Rangers parachuted into Point Saline's new airstrip and captured 250 Cubans. After securing the airstrip, they moved on to the True Blue campus where they found 500 of the American students. From there, the Rangers moved northward where they encountered heavy Cuban resistance. Two battalions of the 82nd Airborne joined the Rangers, and a Cuban stronghold was captured. The Rangers continued north to rescue the students at Grand Anse campus. Helicopter gunships were needed to attack Cuban positions while other helicopters picked up the students on the beach. All the while, the Seals had been pinned down at the governor general's residence. The Marines joined them to fight off the Cubans and Sir Paul Scoon was rescued. The last Cuban stronghold, Richmond Hill prison, and Fort Frederick, were captured and the remaining Cuban and Grenadian forces withdrew to mountain and northern militia bases. 600 Cubans were treated as prisoners of war under the Geneva convention.

A crowd of 530,000 at Cape Canaveral cheered the second launch of the space shuttle, Challenger, which made history by sending the first American woman into orbit. The five member crew included, or course, Sally Ride, mission specialist, Dr. Norman Thagard, commander Robert Crippen, John Fabian, mission specialist, and pilot Frederick Hauck. The crew delivered a couple of satellites into orbit, ran several scientific experiments and made use of the shuttle's remote manipulator arm. The 6-day, 96 orbit mission was also the first to touch down at the Kennedy Space Center, making it the first round trip flight.

The Statue of Liberty, having been analyzed by a team of Franco-American architects will apparently need up to 30 million dollars worth of repair for her centennial on July 4, 1986. The architects found that the 42-foot right arm was improperly connected at the shoulder. Repairs to the copper "skin" of the Lady of the Harbor will require the erection of a giant scaffold which will enshroud the statue for the next two years.

Other repairs will be made to the torch, which is severely corroded and leaking, the observation platform atop Ms. Liberty's head, the armature, or the iron ribs that hold the outer copper plating to its iron frame, and other supporting structures within the statue. A modern air conditioning system will be added and the interior spiral staircase will be improved. Glass enclosed elevators are also being considered.

Questions were raised over the government's right to intrude into family medical decisions, and infants' civil rights in two separate cases. In July, the State of Tennessee intervened in the case of Pamela Hamilton, a 12-year-old cancer victim whose father had refused to approve chemotherapy treatments based on religious convictions. In the case of Baby Jane Doe of New York who was born with spina bifida, or incomplete closure of the spine, hydrocephaly, or excess fluid on the brain, and microcephaly, an abnormally small brain, her parents decided against corrective surgery for the spina bifida; while the infant would die within two years without the surgery, with it she might live up to twenty years—severely retarded and seriously physically handicapped. The Reagan administration stepped in arguing that withholding surgery might be a violation of the infant's civil rights. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop stated, "We are trying to protect the lives of a small group of newborns whose civil rights may be abrogated because somebody doesn't like the quality of life they may have."

The 414's were a group of hackers—computer enthusiasts—named after Milwaukee's telephone area code as a parody of the city's street gangs that get their names from the city's numbered streets. With simple home computers and modems (inexpensive devices that allow computers to transmit data over phone lines), the 414's gained access to telecommunication systems that link thousands of large sophisticated computers in banks, corporations, and government installations across the country. From there, they looked for a likely target, and probed for a way to break in, offering one password after another. In July, two FBI agents showed up at the home of Neal Patrick, a seventeen-year-old member of the group. The 414's are now suspected of having broken into over sixty business and government computer systems in the U.S. and Canada. As details of the investigation were revealed, troubled questions about the vulnerability of commercial and government computers were raised and Defense Secretary Caspar

Weinberger ordered high level investigations of computer security at U.S. military and intelligence installations. The movie Wargames about a teenage hacker who nearly set off World War III when he entered a government computer system threw more emphasis on the issue.

A drought that extended all across the nation's midwest grain lands promised to make 1984 a very difficult year for those Americans who depend on the harvest for their meal tickets. Farmers who spent the spring battling torrential rains found that when the rains suddenly stopped in early June they were confronted with a series of heat waves that sent temperatures soaring into the 100's. The combination of heat and drought proved deadly to the farmers' corn crops which required increased moisture as a cooling mechanism in high temperatures. This turn of events alarmed Washington planners as well. The drought along with their farm policy combined to guarantee a shrinking harvest and rising food prices. Reagan's agricultural policy known as PIK (payment-in-kind), encouraged farmers to keep part of their land fallow in return for government allocation of shares of the national surplus in corn, wheat, rice or cotton to sell at market value. However, it is only a select few who are benefitting from this plan. While higher crop prices make happy farmers of those who have crops to sell, they do absolutely nothing for farmers with crumbling, dry-rotted crops, livestock farmers who need feed grain, and in the long run, consumers who are faced with rising grocery bills. "No matter how important we think we are in Washington," said Deputy Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng, "Somebody Up There has more clout than we do."

The president and Mrs. Reagan made stops in Japan and Korea during a six-day Far Eastern tour in November. Mr. Reagan met with 82-year-old Emperor Hirohito and made a special point of aiding a political friend, Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, in his re-election campaign. During their stay Japan announced that it had lifted its ban on exporting military technology to the U.S. However, little progress seemed to be made on the issue of Japan's defense spending, and America's 20 billion dollar trade deficit with the country. The administration is hopeful that an attempt will be made to begin clearing these matters up after Nakasone's almost assured re-election. In Korea, however, things did not go quite so well. Although the two-day sojourn was arranged to show support for the authoritarian government of Chun Doo Hwan and reassert America's commitment to defend South Korea the entourage found itself within a near-garrison state. The downing of a Korean airliner, the massacre of top South Korean officials in Rangoon, and a death threat to President Reagan broadcast by a North Korean radio station escalated the tensions building on the beleaguered Korean peninsula. Over 100,000 soldiers and police were mobilized to protect the Reagans' and several hundred dissidents were placed under house arrest in an attempt to deter demonstrations. On a lighter note, Nancy Reagan escorted two Korean children suffering from heart defects back to the states. Seven-year-old Ahn Jae Sook and Lee Kil Woo, four, came through their open-heart operations which were funded by Gift of Life, Inc., a non-profit organization that aids needy foreign children.

The controversial Secretary of the Interior, James Watt, 45, was pronounced politically dead after a brief but terminal bout of the dread disease known as Potomac hoof-in-mouth. The immediate cause of Watt's downfall was a statement in reference to his coal advisory commission, that "I have a black, I have a woman, two Jews, and a cripple." Although Watt praised the panel, his attempt to make a joke out of its composition provoked an outcry from several segments. Watt had a long history of making abrasive statements. His observation that American Indian reservations were a perfect example of the failure of socialism in January of '83 aroused calls for his resignation then. During his 33 months in office his policies and personality had been a source of continuous conflict, and Reagan, who had strongly supported Watt but had disapproved of his last statements, "reluctantly accepted" his resignation on October ninth. Watt may well be remembered for what he said rather than what he did. Although he was one of the strongest secretaries to head the Department of the Interior, his flip remarks and self-righteous lectures put him at odds with almost all of his peers.

With the 1984 election year coming up, several political figures began to throw their hats into the ring. In February, Senator Alan Cranston of California, Senator Gary Hart of Colorado, and former Vice President Walter "Fritz" Mondale announced their candidacies. In June, John Anderson, who received less than ten percent of the vote in the 1980 presidential election as an independent announced that he would again seek the presidency, but under a new political party. He rejected the two major parties as unwilling to experiment with new ideas. Black leaders met in Chicago on June 20 and approved the creation of a black coalition for 1984. In November Jesse Jackson made it official: he would run for the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination. It was believed that while he was not the first black candidate to run, he would be the first to have a substantial impact. President Reagan disclosed his intention to run for re-election in October when he sent a letter notifying the Federal Election Commission that he had designated a committee to work for him.

In January, Richard Schweiker, Secretary of Health and Human Services, made public the "squeal rule" that had already stirred widespread debate among teenagers and their parents. The regulation would require clinics funded by the federal government to notify, within ten days, the parents of minors who received prescription birth-control pills, diaphragms and intrauterine devices. The Planned Parenthood Federation of America filed suit in an attempt to block the regulation. The suit claimed that the rule violated the right to privacy and contradicted U.S. birth-control law. A federal district judge blocked the rule contending that it contradicted and subverted the intention of Congress. He noted that Congress had mandated federal aid for teenage birth-control programs.

Ann McGill Burford resigned, March 9, as administrator of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency while criticisms from Congress and other sources continued to stack up, saying that "controversy and confusion" were detering the agency from reaching its goals. Representative John Dingell of Michigan said, in a letter to President Reagan sent in early March, that his subcommittee of the Public Works Committee had information relating to wrong doing and "criminal conduct" in the EPA. Dingell also told the president that subpoenaed documents concerning clean-up of hazardous waste drums which were withheld by the agency from the committee contained evidence of misconduct. On the same day that Burford stepped down, the White House granted Congress access to the documents. On March 21, the subcommittee heard testimony suggesting that hazardous waste clean-up programs may have been manipulated to benefit Republican candidates in the '82 election, and President Reagan named William Ruckelshaus to the administrative position. Four days later, five other top officials at the agency resigned. Rita Lavelle, a former head of the agency's toxic waste clean-up was later convicted of perjury and hampering a congressional investigation.

The 20th anniversary of the March on Washington, led by the Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. in 1963, was commemorated by another march in Washington on August 27. The original march had placed primary emphasis on attaining equality for black Americans, but the 1983 march, with its theme of "Jobs, Peace, and Freedom," also attracted persons who supported issues of concern to working people, women, Hispanics, environmentalists, and homosexuals. The attendance of at least 250,000 rivaled the number of participants in the original march, but none of the oratories delivered could compete with King's "I have a dream" speech delivered at the Lincoln Memorial in '63. Said Coretta Scott King, King's widow, "We still have a dream. This march will be a recommitment to the fulfilling of the dream . . . it will tell the administration we are serious and we want serious policy changes." Hostility toward the Reagan administration seemed to be a major unifying theme.

In May, the Health and Human Services Department declared "Number 1 priority" to the search to find the cause of acquired immunity deficiency syndrome. The government's action came after alarm was noted as being nationwide. By the end of the year, 3,000 cases had been reported and forty percent of those had already died. Assistant secretary of the department Edward N. Brandt, Jr. said that their investigation had found that AIDS was spread "almost entirely through sexual contact, through the sharing of needles by drug abusers, and, less commonly, through blood and blood products." Seventy percent of the victims have been bisexual or homosexual men; the other high-risk groups are intravenous drug-users, Haitian immigrants and hemophiliacs. These minorities became America's lepers. In a San Jose, California hospital nurses quit their jobs rather than treat AIDS patients. In New York City, a robber tried to frighten tellers with a note declaring he had the disease. Although AIDS is known for its prominently gay victims, several heterosexual couples have been found to have the disease. Typically, AIDS disables the body's immune system. The collapsed defenses allow other illnesses such as Kaposi's sarcoma, and Pneumocystis carinii pneumonia to ravage the victim's health. It is believed that the disease originated from Africa and was brought to California where it blossomed in the homosexual baths of San Francisco and Los Angeles and was carried to other parts of the U.S.

The National Commission on Excellence in Education created by Education Secretary Terrel Bell in 1981 issued its report, "A Nation at Risk," in April. The report revealed that American students were falling behind their contemporaries in other industrialized nations in academic skills. The commission called on the public to provide the money that would be needed to turn the situation around. The panel recommended that school put more emphasis on English, mathematics, science, social studies, and computer science; that the school day and the school year be lengthened; and that teachers be rewarded for merit rather than seniority. It also requested that colleges raise their admission standards. The panel stated that the decline of education in America "threatens our very future as a nation and a people."

In 1983, MTV became the savior of the music business. After four bad years and slumping record sales, charts were suddenly popping with mega-sellers, and the industry was ready to give credit where it was due; to the 24-hour music television station. Playing almost nothing but single-song rock tapes 24-hours a day, the channel became the most effective way for a new group to get national exposure. Boasted MTV chief Bob Pittman, "We play 80 percent new music, twenty percent old. Radio is just the opposite." The station was responsible for the success of quite a few groups such as Duran Duran, The Greg Kihn Band, Billy Idol, Scandal, Men Without Hats, and aided David Bowie in his comeback with videos such as "Let's Dance," and "China Girl." The station led the way for several others. An alternative is USA Cable Networks "Night Flight," a twice-weekly, eight-hour show that plays longer, more adventurous clips. Black Entertainment Television devoted six hours a week to promoting current black videos, and the Nashville Network began twanging in March, offering 18 hours of country entertainment a day.

At the age of 48, Brooklyn-bred Joan Rivers has emerged as television's most outrageous funny woman. Christine Craft, 38, waged war on Kansas City's KMBC-TV when she was demoted to reporter because her male bosses felt she was "too old, too unattractive, and not deferential enough to men." Three months after she was awarded $500,000 in a lawsuit against the station, the verdict was overturned by Federal Judge Joseph E. Stevens, Jr. and a new trial was scheduled for January.

Jiang Qing, the leader of the "Gang of Four" who had been under a death sentence for two years, was spared by China's Supreme People's Court, which altered the sentence to life in prison. Qing had earlier been found guilty of persecuting thousands of citizens during the Cultural Revolution. It was believed that the court was concerned that she not be made a martyr to those who might seek to revive Maoist doctrine.

In July, Spain became the first European nation to legalize marijuana. After trying to go on with the show, the concert was post-poned until the following night.

Culture Club's Boy George led the group to success this year. With five different singles ranging the pop charts in 1983, the outrageous lead singer brought an amalgam of Third World styles—reggae, calypso, funk—along with American rock and disco to the ears of America. As far as music goes, 1983 was the year of Michael Jackson. The twenty-five-year-old musician's number one album Thriller put a record-breaking seven singles on the charts. Another cut with Paul McCartney — "Say, Say, Say" — and a 14-minute, $800,000 horror movie short confirmed Jackson as the year's top entertainer.

Reagan advisers admitted that they had prepared the then-candidate president for his October 1980 debate with Jimmy Carter by using a pilfered campaign briefing book.

Dave Righetti, a 1981 Rookie of the Year, who was later sent to the minors in disgrace, came back to pitch a no-hitter against the Red Sox—the first Yankee to do so since Don Larsen shut out the Dodgers in 1956.

After 11 seasons of laughter, tears, and love, the final episode of M*A*S*H was shown on February 28th to 125 million viewers, making it the most watched program ever on TV. After tearful goodbyes, Hawkeye, Colonel Potter, Margaret, B. J., Charles, Klinger, and Father

The Birth of a Cajun

Being without an official symbol since the early 1970's, USL Alumni, in conjunction with the Athletic Department, created a character that they felt best represented the growing, diverse university. After developing it on paper, plans and designs were then sent to the Stagecraft Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, to bring to life what had lain dormant for some 10 years: a USL mascot. Returning in mid summer, a large crate containing Mr. Ragin's Cajun arrived here at USL, its new home. Dressed in a red tuxedo, large brimmed hat, and black boots and gloves, Mr. Cajun is a combination of the formal and the not-so-formal. His red tails lend to an air of distinction and sophistication, a quality possessed by many Cajun people, and his large brimmed hat prepares him for those hot sun-filled days and brightly lit nights cheering on USL's Ragin' Cajuns.

Mr. Cajun possesses a happy-go-lucky character that allows him to relate to the many different people that make up the university. Representing people from all 50 states and 93 foreign countries, he, like the many students at USL, cannot limit himself to one particular image, for he is as diverse as the university itself.

Apparently enjoying his new home at USL, Mr. Ragin' Cajun is looking forward to many years of representing the university as its official symbol. His pride is as great as the number of students, alumni, and supporters of USL, and his enthusiasm is boundless. "My strength," he says, "comes from the people in the stands."

Serving as mascot: Martin Cormier; alternate Karl Trahan.

Here's to gamblers
Who hold to the game
Through the hard times
They don't lose their aim
And they hope for time on their side
And they keep a ticket to ride

Here's to never letting go . . .

Here's to lovers who reach for it all
 Never matching the rise with the fall
 And they just can't leave it alone
 And they want it all till it's gone
 Here's to players who can't leave their song
 And it haunts them
 Their night is so long
 'Cause there's music there in their mind
 From a world they're trying to find
 Here's to never letting go . . .

BASKETBALL

Basketball Has Ups and Downs

USL's 1982-83 basketball season ended earlier than most people had hoped, but the Cajuns can look back with pride on a season loaded with accomplishments and a season which ended as one of the most successful in USL basketball history. Even a 60-53 loss to Rutgers in the first round of the NCAA Tournament could not take the glitter off the 22-7 overall record.

The overall 22-7 record ranks percentage-wise as the seventh-best record in USL school history with the .759 winning percentage during the season. In addition, the 22 wins record is the fifth highest single-season win total in Ragin' Cajun annals.

The 22 wins record also marks the second straight year, the third time in the last four years and the 10th time in the last 17 seasons that the Cajuns have cracked the 20 win mark. Over the last four years, USL has averaged 20.5 wins per season, and over the last seven seasons the Cajuns are averaging 19.7 wins per campaign.

USL's Lady Cajun basketball season didn't come out anything like the squad had hoped.

The Lady Cajuns stumbled to a 5-23 overall record during the season and ended the campaign with a fourth-place finish in the annual LA Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (LAIAW) state meet held for the final time.

Cajun Tracksters Do Well in Championships

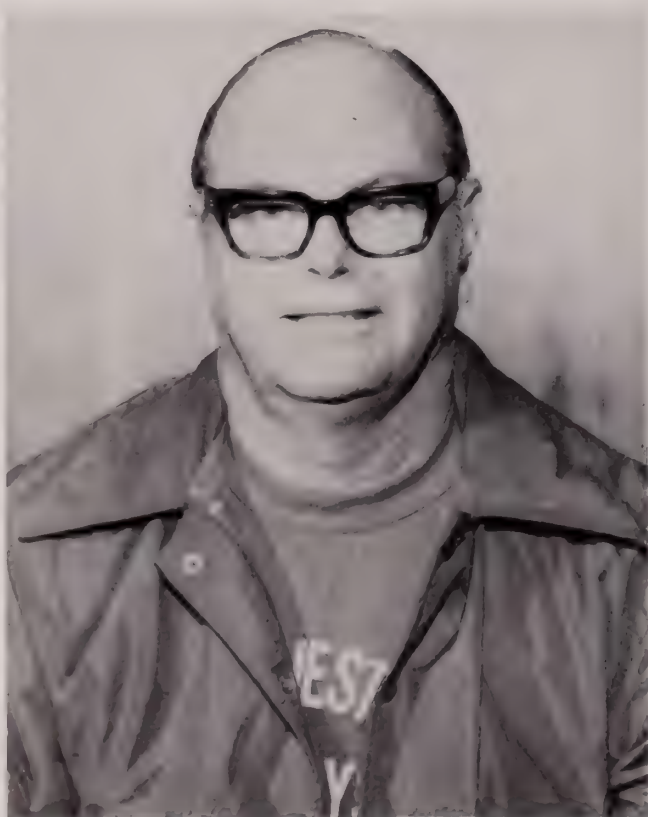

It was called the Louisiana Intercollegiate Championships, so USL track and field coach Bob Cole figures that his Cajun squad is the state champion.

No official team score was kept since some of the teams did not field complete teams, but nevertheless an unofficial point total put the Cajuns out in front of the other nine-team field.

Unofficial point totals showed the Cajun squad with 115 points, well ahead of second-place Northeast Louisiana with 92 points. Following them were La. Tech with 86, Tulane with 52, Northwestern La. with 48, LSU with 47, McNeese State with 45, Southeastern La. with 35 and Centenary with 2.

"It's an unofficial total, sure," said Cole, "but it's a pretty good indication of where we stand. It's as close to a state championship as we've got, and I'm very proud of the way our guys competed in just about every event."

USL only had two first places in the event but showed good overall team balance, scoring in 15 of 16 events. The two first places were provided by Pat McGrath in the 1500-meter run and by the USL 1600-meter relay team of Curtis Washington, James Pierre, Artie Robertson and Charles Derousselle. Derousselle also claimed a share of one first place when he tied John Duhon of LSU in the 400-meter hurdles.

GOLF

Golf Set for Season

A total of five tournaments, including the season-ending Louisiana Intercollegiate Championships, will be facing USL's Ragin' Cajun golf team during the fall season.

"It's one of the more ambitious schedules that a USL team has had in the fall in several years," said Bass, who will be entering his second term as Cajun golf coach, "It will probably really be a challenge for us to compete against some of the teams we'll be facing in the fall."

The season-wrapup La. Intercollegiate meet is scheduled at Toro Hills Golf Course near Many and is being hosted by Northwestern La. All of the state's collegiate units are expected to take part.

In between the NLU meet and the state championships, the Cajuns will take part in three of the best-known tournaments in the South. USL will be a participant in Angelo's Invitational Intercollegiate meet at Bear Creek Golf World in Houston, in the Hillman Robbins Intercollegiate meet at Woodstock Hills Country Club in Memphis, and in the Southern Mississippi-Broadwater Beach Intercollegiate meet at the Broadwater Beach Sun Course in Biloxi.

TENNIS

TENNIS TEAM RANKED

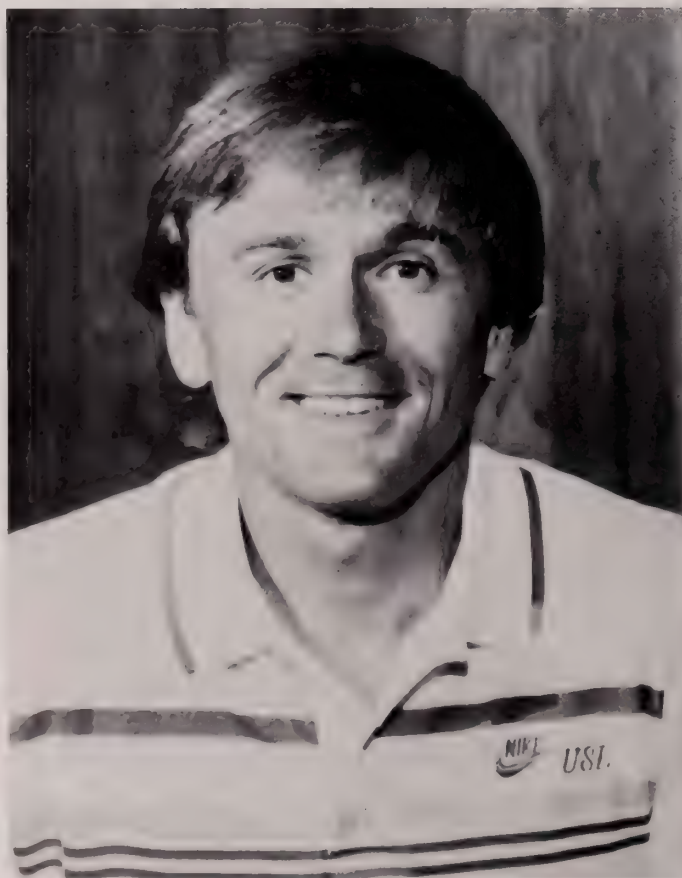

USL's No. 20-ranked Ragin' Cajun tennis team opened its season with a pair of road matches, journeying to meet Houston Baptist and rugged Texas A&M.

"These two matches were a touch test for us us, especially the match with Texas A&M," said Cajun Head Coach Gary Albertine, who opened his first season as head coach of the USL squad. "Texas A&M always has a very strong team, and it was rough for us to play them this early."

The Cajuns, who put together a 24-7 overall record last year and were ranked 16th in the nation at the end of the season, got four veterans back in the singles lineup along with one squadman and one newcomer in the probable listings for the two matches.

Leading the way, though, was a familiar face in junior Tarek El Sakka, USL's No. 1 player for the past two seasons and the No. 37-ranked singles player in the nation in the pre-season rankings. He reached as high as a no. 26 ranking in the nation last season.

The other veterans in the lineup included junior Spike Jopito, junior Boyd Bryan and junior Vaughn Bryan, while squadman George Rodriguez and newcomer freshman Robert Pellizzi of Dallas, Tx., rounded out the probable singles lineup.

FOOTBALL

Football Season Worth Remembering

The Cajun squad ended up with a 4-6 overall record on the season, but that doesn't tell the whole story. At one time, USL was struggling along with an 0-5 mark and had lost three games to Rice, East Carolina and Tulane all by a total of six points.

From there on, with the exception of a disappointing outing at Southern Mississippi, nobody touched the Cajuns this year, and a season ending 25-21 surprise over San Jose State put the finishing touches on a streak that saw USL win three in a row and four out of five to end the season.

"Coming back like we did is a great tribute to the kind of young men we have on this team," said head coach Sam Robertson, who ended his fourth year in the head coach slot. "What we did in the last half of the season took a lot of character, a lot of hustle, a lot of intensity and a lot of courage. We could have quit at mid-season, but that's an example of what kind of people we have and the kind of leaders we had in our senior class."

VOLLEYBALL

Teamwork is the Key in Volleyball

Before USL's Lady Cajun volleyball team walked onto the court for its first match of the season, it was easy to find the squads major shortcoming. There was nobody to look up to on the Lady Cajun roster.

That's not to suggest that the squad was devoid of senior leaders. Actually the exact opposite is true, since this years team boasts five final year players.

But it's a fact that the biggest member of the squad is sophomore Trina Stokes, who stands in on the USL front line at 5-foot-10.

However, there is ample ability on the fourth Lady Cajun team of coach Sherry Lebas. She believed that ability would help overcome the height deficiency of her squad.

New Athletic Director Chosen

Mel Didier, athletic director at U.S.L. from August of 1981, formally resigned on January 17, 1983 to take the position of special scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers. An immediate and nationwide search was begun to find a successor to Didier.

The search came to an end on April 20th when Dr. Terry Don Phillips, assistant director of athletics at the University of Missouri and a former member of the athletic staffs at Florida, Arkansas, Virginia Tech, and Liberty Baptist was appointed to the position.

He served as assistant director of athletics at Missouri since 1981, following a two-year stint as director of athletics at Liberty Baptist College in Lynchburg, Va. He had previously served as assistant director of athletics at Florida for two years after serving on the staff at Virginia Tech for seven years as assistant football coach and assistant to the director of university development. Prior to that, he had begun his career as an assistant coach at Arkansas.

At Missouri, Phillips was responsible for directing the development of the athletic program including fund-raising, network coordination and budgets as well as many other duties in the public relations field.

He served as athletic director at Liberty Baptist from 1980-81 and during that time helped that college gain membership in the NCAA. He helped formulate virtually every athletic policy at the institution including the initiation, preparation and control of all facets of the department.

During his two-year stint at Florida, Phillips was responsible for internal administration of daily operations of the athletic department, including supervision of staff and special projects.

At Virginia Tech, he served for seven years on the football staff, serving as freshman coach for two years before stepping into a defensive position as defensive line coach in 1974. He became defensive front coordinator in 1976 and one year later also assumed the position in the university development office.

While at Virginia Tech, Phillips received his Doctor of Education in Administration degree in 1978, and his doctoral dissertation on Title IX requirements was used as reference material by the U.S. Office of Civil Rights and the U.S. Congress.

Phillips received his bachelors' degree from Arkansas in 1970 after earning three football letters for the Razorbacks and starting for two years as well as helping Arkansas to a Southwest Conference co-championship in 1968 and a Sugar Bowl victory in 1969. He earned his masters' degree from Virginia Tech in 1974 before his doctorate degree in 1978.

BASEBALL

Baseball: Ready or Not

USL's Ragin' Cajun baseball team apparently was cruising along on the way to an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament, with wins in eight of its last ten games and a 24-15 record. However, the Cajuns got their playoff plans sidetracked when they dropped three of their last four games to leave the record at 25-18.

The "mini-slump" started with a split doubleheader against the University of New Orleans. USL took the first 5-4 in eight innings, but UNO snapped a four-game Cajun win streak with a 4-1 triumph in the nightcap.

One night later, a red-hot Nicholls State squad came to Moore Field and swept the Cajuns, taking victories of 5-0 in the opener and 4-1 in the second game.

"I don't think we were mentally ready to play baseball. We went out there flat, and it showed," said first year coach Brad Kelley. "Our pitching was good enough to win, but we had no hitting and very little defense."

Kelley said the Cajuns surrendered six unearned runs in a pair of 4-1 losses, but pointed out that USL didn't exactly wear-out the basepaths in either contest.

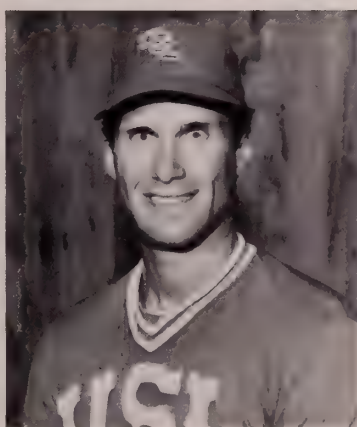

"The defense has been a little suspect, at best. We've made a lot of errors lately," he said. "The pitchers are giving up too many walks. It's easy to see why so many of our pitchers are struggling right now when you look at the number of walks given up and errors committed in the last few games.

"But we're making up for it at the plate," Kelley continued. "We hit the ball okay average-wise as a team but we're not getting too many hits in crucial situations. We get hits with two outs and nobody on, but we've had our troubles with runners in scoring position."

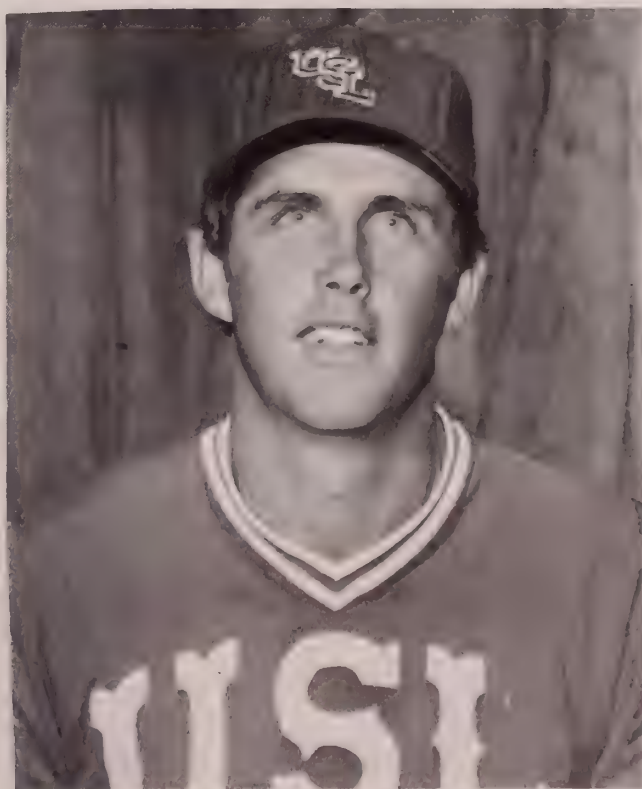

"It's tough to win when you don't cross the plate too often," he said. "If you don't score many runs, you need to have a Cy Young Jr. out there throwing for you."

SOFTBALL

SOFTBALL ON GOOD SCHEDULE

A total of 27 games plus appearances in two tournaments were on tap for USL's Lady Cajun softball team on the 1983 schedule that also included a total of 17 home appearances.

"We're very happy with our schedule this year," said Girouard. "We've got a lot of home games and we'll be competing for a conference title for the first time, and we're looking forward to a good year."

The Lady Cajuns were in their first year of competition in the Southland Women's Conference this season and competed in the South Zone competition against McNeese State's Cowgirls and Lamar University's Lady Cardinals in the league. USL hosted McNeese in a four-game series on April 16-17, and traveled to Beaumont to take on Lamar on March 26-27, in the two SLWC series.

The Lady Cajuns, who compiled a 15-13 overall record last year and captured the La. Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (LAIAW) Division I title in the last year of existence for that organization, will be playing eight home double-headers during the season and only one home single game. In addition to the season tipoff against Northwestern, USL will also be hosting Nicholls State, Indiana State, Northeast Louisiana, Mississippi State, LSU-Alexandria and McNeese State in the home twinbills along with a solo home game with Stephen F. Austin.

The road slate included twinbills with Northeast Louisiana, LSU-Alexandria, Nicholls State and Lamar. In addition, USL participated in the annual Lady Maverick Tournament hosted by Texas-Arlington on April 22-23 prior to the first Southland Women's Conference tournament on April 29-30. The SLWC meet was scheduled for Beaumont, Texas.

INTRAMURALS

INTRAMURALS AVAILABLE FOR ALL

The role of the Free Time Activities Department is to provide a comprehensive recreational sports program for the students, staff and faculty at USL. It is the departments' purpose to offer both competitive and non-competitive, structured and informal recreational-athletic programs for the members of the university community.

Intramural sports provide an opportunity for USL students, faculty and staff to participate in structured leagues and tournaments in a variety of sports. Competition is divided into men's, women's, and co-rec divisions. Over 25 activities are offered each semester. The concept of A, AA, and AAA skill level divisions is used, with AAA being the most competitive. It is designed to provide equal competition opportunities for the entire campus community. A single elimination tournament will be held at the conclusion of all league activities and will include representatives from each skill level division. Appropriate seeds and byes will be given to those who choose to be in AA or AAA.
